Any request for a hearing must be accompanied by a statement of the reasons a written presentation would not suffice in lieu of a hearing, identifying specifically any questions of fact that are in dispute, summarizing the evidence that would be presented at a hearing, and indicating how the party commenting would be aggrieved by approval of the proposal. Proposed Projects

1. The HIV Epidemic in Small Cities and Rural Areas of the South—New— The HIV epidemic is increasingly spreading to small cities and rural areas of the South where little is known about the epidemic. Unlike other regions in the U.S., AIDS in the future is likely to be particularly severe in the South because STDs remain at epidemic levels in women and minorities in southern rural areas. Because funding is based on place of residence at diagnosis and because many patients with AIDS live in large metropolitan areas at diagnosis and then move to smaller cities and rural areas, resources may not be adequate for these patients after moving.

HIV-infected persons living in small cities and rural areas of the South will be interviewed to learn more about the circumstances of how they became infected and to determine what HIV-related health care services and prevention messages have been available to them before and after they became infected. Specific objectives include to: (1) Describe the demographics and modes of HIV transmission, (2) describe and compare high risk behaviors before and after being aware of their HIV infection, (3) determine in HIV-infected persons with a history of a sexually transmitted disease, the HIV/STD prevention services and messages that were offered when they were diagnosed with an STD at the visited health care sites, (4) determine the reasons for being HIV tested and the site and location of the HIV counseling and testing when the person first became HIV-positive and to describe the content of the counseling, (5) describe and compare HIV-related barriers to health care that HIV-infected persons have experienced in small MSAs and rural areas, (6) describe and compare characteristics of persons who acquired HIV infection in the area of current residence versus those who
