The draft instructions are about 25% shorter than the current instructions, but contain all the information needed by most taxpayers whose tax situation remains fairly stable from year to year. IRS will use this series of focus groups to obtain reactions, comments and suggestions to these new instructions from Form 1040 filers who prepare their own returns.

2. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) recently found that there is a significant increase in the usage of return preparation software within the professional accounting community. IRS will conduct this series of focus groups to obtain feedback from these taxpayers on (a) current filing practices, (b) changes to filing practices over the past few years, and (c) future filing practices. Information gathered in these focus groups will help IRS adapt their products and services to meet taxpayers changing needs.

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms

[Notice No. 822]

Commerce in Explosives; List of Explosive Materials

Pursuant to the provisions of section 841(d) of Title 18, United States Code, and 27 CFR 55.23, the Director, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms, must publish and revise at least annually in the Federal Register a list of explosives determined to be within the coverage of 18 U.S.C. Chapter 40, Importation, Manufacture, Distribution and Storage of Explosive Materials. This chapter covers not only explosives, but also blasting agents and detonators, all of which are defined as explosive materials in section 841(c) of Title 18, United States Code. Accordingly, the following is the 1996 List of Explosive Materials subject to regulation under 18 U.S.C. Chapter 40, which includes both the list of explosives (including detonators) required to be published in the Federal Register and blasting agents. The list is intended to also include any and all mixtures containing any of the materials in the list. Materials constituting blasting agents are marked by an asterisk. While the list is comprehensive, it is not all inclusive. The fact that an explosive material may not be on the list does not mean that it is not within the coverage of the law if it otherwise meets the statutory definitions in section 841 of Title 18, United States Code. Explosive materials are listed alphabetically by their common names followed by chemical names and synonyms in brackets. This revised list supersedes the List of Explosive Materials dated April 15, 1995, ( FR ) and will be effective as of the date of publication in the Federal Register.
