Economic Classification Policy Committee: Standard Industrial Classification Replacement—The North American Industry Classification System Proposed Industry Classification Structure

AGENCY: Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office of the President.

ACTION: Notice of solicitation of comments for North American Industry Classification System industries.

SUMMARY: Under 44 U.S.C. 3504, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) is seeking public comment on a series of notices documenting the development of the new North American Industry Classification System (NAICS), the industry classification system being proposed to replace the current Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system. All Federal agencies that collect establishment-based data are expected to utilize the new system.

OMB is seeking comments on the usefulness and advisability of the proposed new NAICS as submitted by the Economic Classification Policy Committee (ECPC), an interagency committee established by OMB.

This notice, the sixth related to preparation of NAICS and the fourth in a series seeking comment on proposed industry structures, presents the entire proposed industry structure for NAICS including those sectors not previously published, the hierarchy, and the coding system. The structure and coding system shown in Part IV, Table 1 do not include any changes based on comments received in response to previous Federal Register notices regarding NAICS. The ECPC is currently reviewing those comments. Thus comments provided in response to any of the previous notices need not be resubmitted. This fall OMB will publish the ECPC's final recommendations to OMB for comment in a Federal Register notice that incorporates all of the ECPC's recommended revisions to the structure and coding system based on comments received in the U.S. and comments received by Canada and Mexico.

NAICS is being developed in cooperation with Statistics Canada and Mexico's Instituto Nacional de Estadística, Geografía e Informática (INEGI). The new NAICS system provides common industry definitions for Canada, Mexico, and the United States to facilitate economic analyses that cover the economies of the three North American countries. The three country collaboration on an industry classification system for North America was announced for public comment in the Federal Register, July 26, 1994, pp. 38092–38096.

The July 26, 1994 Federal Register notice includes the concepts for the new system, as developed by Statistics Canada, Mexico's INEGI, and the ECPC. It also includes a copy of the joint statement of the three countries' statistical agencies regarding the development of NAICS. That agreement includes the following principles:

(1) NAICS will be erected on a production-oriented, or supply-based, conceptual framework. This means that producing units that use identical or similar production processes will be grouped together in NAICS.

(2) The system will give special attention to developing production-oriented classifications for (a) new and emerging industries, (b) service industries in general, and (c) industries engaged in the production of advanced technologies.

(3) Time series continuity will be maintained to the extent possible. However, changes in the economy and proposals from data users must be considered. In addition, adjustments will be required for sectors where the United States, Canada, and Mexico presently have incompatible industry classification definitions in order to produce a common industry system for all three North American countries.

(4) The system will strive for compatibility with the 2-digit level of the International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC, Rev. 3) of the United Nations.

ECPC Report No. 3—Summary of Public Responses to the Proposed New North American Industry Classification Industry System provides a summary of public comments received in response to the July 26, 1994, Federal Register notice.

A notice was published in the Federal Register, July 26, 1995, pp. 38436–38452, requesting comment on proposed industry structures for petroleum and coal product manufacturing, chemical manufacturing, and rubber and plastics manufacturing; for broadcasting and telecommunications; and for food services and drinking places and accommodations. A second Federal Register notice was published on February 6, 1996, pp. 4524–4578, requesting comment on proposed industry structures for crop production, animal production, forestry and logging; textile mills, textile product mills, apparel manufacturing, and leather and allied product manufacturing; food manufacturing and beverage and tobacco product manufacturing; fabricated metal product manufacturing; machinery manufacturing; electrical equipment, appliance and component manufacturing; and transportation equipment manufacturing. A third Federal Register notice was published on May 28, 1996, pp. 26558–26668, requesting comment on proposed industry structures for health and social assistance; educational services; computers and electronics product manufacturing; furniture manufacturing; printing and related support activities; professional, technical and scientific services; performing arts, spectator sports and related industries; museums, historical sites and similar institutions; recreation, amusement and gambling; information; wood product manufacturing, except furniture; rental and leasing; repair and maintenance; management and support; transportation; mining; paper manufacturing; nonmetallic minerals manufacturing; primary metal manufacturing; miscellaneous manufacturing; and postal service and couriers.

DATES: To ensure consideration and response to all comments on the proposals set forth in this notice, comments must be in writing and should be submitted as soon as possible, but no later than September 3, 1996. It is planned that this proposed industry system would become effective in the U.S. on January 1, 1997.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Structure of Notice

There are four parts to this notice. PART I includes the proposals for Finance and Insurance; PART II includes the structure for all of the subsectors not made comparable across all three countries and the structure for the retail and wholesale sectors, the boundaries of which are included in NAICS; PART III includes the proposed NAICS hierarchy; and PART IV presents the entire proposed structure of the new classification system, including the proposed coding system.

Part I of the notice is organized into two sections. The first section includes a copy of the proposed agreement signed by the ECPC, Statistics Canada, and INEGI; the structure of NAICS; and an explanation of the structure. For a number of reasons, NAICS industries do not always provide as much industry detail as has been present in the U.S. SIC. Each country may add additional detailed industries, below the proposed 5-digit industry level of NAICS, as necessary to meet national needs, so long as this additional detail aggregates to a 5-digit industry NAICS level in order to ensure full comparability among the three countries. The second section includes the U.S. detailed industries within NAICS and two comparison tables showing the differences between the 1987 SIC and the 1997 NAICS with United States detail.

Part II includes the structure for industries that have not been made comparable across all three countries. Because both resources and time for constructing NAICS were limited, the statistical agencies of the three countries agreed on the boundaries of some sectors or subsectors rather than a detailed industry structure. Those sectors (subsectors) are construction; utilities; retail trade; wholesale trade; real estate; lessors of other non-financial assets; waste management and remediation services; and other services that include personal and laundry services and religious, grantmaking, civic, and other membership organizations. For each of these sectors, except wholesale trade, Canada and the United States have agreed on an industry structure and hierarchy to ensure comparability of statistics between those two countries. The United States will provide for additional industries at the national level to reflect important industries in the United States that will not be shown separately in Canada.

Part III includes the proposed hierarchy for NAICS. This structure includes those sectors for which detailed industries have been agreed upon by the three countries and those industries that include only an agreement between Canada and the United States.

Part IV presents the entire structure of the new classification system for the United States including both NAICS and non-NAICS industries. Table 1 shows the proposed 1997 hierarchy, including NAICS and U.S. national detail industries, and the proposed coding system for NAICS with a comparison to the 1987 SIC. Table 2 is in 1987 SIC sequence and relates the 1987 SIC to the 1997 NAICS.

The structure and coding system shown in Part IV, Table 1 do not include any changes based on comments received about previous Federal Register notices regarding NAICS. The ECPC is currently reviewing these comments. If you have provided comments on any of the previous notices, you do not need to resubmit those comments. This fall OMB will publish the ECPC's final recommendations to OMB for comment in a Federal Register notice that incorporates all of the ECPC's recommended revisions to the structure and coding system based on comments received in the U.S. and comments received by Canada and Mexico.

Time Series Summary

The standard approach to preserving time series continuity after classification revisions is to create linkages where the series break. This is accomplished by producing the data series using both the old and new classifications for a given period of transition. With the dual classifications of data, the full impact of the revision can be assessed. Data producers then may measure the reallocation of the data at aggregate industry levels and develop a concordance between the new and old series for that given point in time. The concordance creates a crosswalk between the old and new classification systems. This link between the 1987 U.S. SIC and NAICS (with U.S. national detail) will be developed by the statistical agencies in the U.S.

Outreach Activities

OMB and the Economic Classification Policy Committee (ECPC) are seeking comments on the proposed NAICS structure for the industries described in this notice. In carrying out its mandate to ensure maximum public participation in the process of constructing NAICS, the ECPC has already discussed many of these industry proposals with industry and user groups and will continue to do so. In addition, the ECPC is replying on a flow basis as soon as the work is completed for industry subsectors to previous Federal Register notices. Thus, this Federal Register notice supplements other ECPC public outreach activities in the development of NAICS.

Part 1—Proposed New Industry Structure for Finance and Insurance

Section A—NAICS Structure

North American Industry Classification System (NAICS)

Agreement Number 24

This Document represents the proposed agreement on the structure of the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) for the following sector: Finance and Insurance.

The detailed NAICS structure along with a brief description of the structure is attached (Attachments 1 and 2). Each country agrees to release a copy of the proposed NAICS structure to interested data users. Comments received will be shared among the countries and additional discussions will be held before a final decision on the structure is made. Each country may add additional detailed industries, below the NAICS industry level of NAICS, as necessary to meet national needs, so long as this additional detail aggregates to the NAICS industry level in order to ensure full comparability among the three countries. This NAICS structure was presented and provisionally accepted at the NAICS Committee meeting held on December 12 and December 13, 1995 in Washington, DC.

Attachment 2—North American Industry Classification System

Draft Classification for:
 Finance and Insurance

Representatives of the statistical agencies of Canada, Mexico, and the United States agree to a draft classification for these industries.

This draft classification constitutes the sector Finance and Insurance. This sector is composed of four subsectors: Monetary Authorities—Central Bank; Credit Intermediation and Related Activities; Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities; and Insurance Carriers and Related Activities. These subsectors are subdivided into six industry groups.

In addition, Canada and the United States will further subdivide the NAICS structure, creating, in all, nine industry groups and 25 industries; this structure is shown in Attachment 3. Mexico will have its own industry detail to reflect the very different financial institutions that exist in Mexico.

A General Outline

The Finance and Insurance sector consists of establishments primarily engaged in financial transactions—that is, transactions involving the creation, liquidation, or change in ownership of financial assets—or in facilitating financial transactions. Three principal types of activities can be identified:

- Some establishments raise funds by taking deposits and/or issuing securities, and, in the process, incur liabilities. They use these funds to acquire financial assets by making loans and/or purchasing securities. Putting themselves at risk, they channel funds from lenders to borrowers and transform or repackage the funds with respect to maturity, scale and risk. This activity is known as financial intermediation, and that term will be used in the rest of this agreement.

- Some establishments are engaged in the pooling of risk. They collect fees—insurance premiums or annuity considerations; build up reserves; invest those reserves; and make contractual payments. Fees are based on the expected incidence of the insured risk and the expected return on investment.

- Some establishments are engaged in providing specialized services facilitating, or supporting, financial intermediation, insurance, and employee benefit programs.

In addition, establishments charged with monetary control—the monetary authorities—are included in this sector.

The subsectors, industry groups, and industries within this sector have been defined on the basis of their unique production processes. As with all industries, the production processes are distinguished by their use of specialized human resources and specialized physical capital. In addition, the way in which these establishments acquire and allocate financial capital—their source of funds and the use of those funds—provides a third basis for distinguishing characteristics of the production process. For instance, the production process in raising funds through deposit taking is different from the process of raising funds in bond or money markets. The process of making loans to individuals also requires different production processes than does the creation of investment pools or the underwriting of securities.

Most of the Finance and Insurance subsectors contain one or more industry groups of intermediaries with similar patterns of raising and using funds and another industry group of establishments engaged in activities that facilitate, or are otherwise related to, that type of financial or insurance intermediation.

The subsector Monetary Authorities—Central Bank consists of establishments engaged in such central banking functions as issuing currency, regulating the supply of credit, managing the nation's international reserves, holding deposits that represent the reserves of other banks and other central banks, and acting as fiscal agent for the central government. The institutional arrangements for performing these functions may differ among countries. In Canada these functions are performed by the Bank of Canada, in Mexico by the Bank of Mexico, and in the United States by the Federal Reserve banks.<sup>1</sup>

The subsector Credit Intermediation and Related Activities consists of two types of establishments: those that intermediate in credit markets and those that facilitate such intermediation. Establishments in the first group lend funds to the public or to other borrowers, raising the funds that they lend by accepting deposits from the public, by borrowing from other financial intermediaries, or by issuing commercial paper and debt in the capital markets. Establishments that facilitate credit intermediation are engaged in such activities as mortgage and loan brokerage, clearinghouse and reserve services, and check cashing services.

The subsector Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities contains three industry groups. The first industry group, Securities and Commodity Contracts Intermediation and Brokerage, consists of establishments that put capital at risk in the process of engaging in underwriting securities issues or in making markets for securities and establishments that, as agents and brokers, act as intermediaries between buyers and sellers, usually charging a commission. The second industry group, Securities and Commodity Exchanges, consists of securities and commodity exchanges that provide administrative, monitoring, and enforcement services for financial markets. The third industry group, Other Financial Investment Activities, consists of establishments that facilitate the marketing of other financial contracts or provide portfolio management, other investment advisory services, trust, fiduciary, and custody services.

The subsector Insurance Carriers and Related Activities contains two industry groups. The first industry group,

Insurance Carriers, consists of establishments that intermediate as the consequence of pooling risks. They invest premiums to build up a portfolio of financial assets to be used against future claims. Industries are defined in terms of the type of risk being insured against, such as, death, loss of employment because of age or disability, and property damage. Contributions and premiums are set on the basis of actuarial calculations of probable payouts based on risk factors from experience tables and expected investment returns on reserves. The second industry group, Agencies, Brokerages, and Other Insurance Related Activities, consists of agencies and brokerages selling insurance and establishments providing other insurance- and employee-benefit-related services.

Background. Existing industry classification structures for this sector typically have been specified at the enterprise level by type of financial institution—banks, life insurance companies, etc. Until recently, the functions that could be performed by particular institutions were constrained by the regulatory structure in each country; but this situation is rapidly changing, particularly in Canada and the United States. The NAICS classification proposed for Finance and Insurance is a bridge between the existing institutional basis and a structure based on the activities performed within these institutions.

Industries are defined in terms of activities for which a production process can be specified, and many of these activities are not exclusive to a particular type of financial institution. Although the activities carried out by establishments in the Finance and Insurance sector appear to be broadly similar in the three countries, the manner in which they have been organized and delivered are unique to each country—depending on laws, regulations, tradition, and technological advancements. The extent to which these activities can be separately identified and measured is not clear; consequently, three-country NAICS is specified, for the most part, only at the subsector or industry group level.

To deal with the varied activities taking place within existing financial institutions, the approach is to split these institutions into components performing specialized services. This requires defining the units engaged in providing those services and developing procedures that allow for their delineation. These units are the equivalents for Finance and Insurance of the establishments defined for other industries. There are differences in the present definition of the production unit in the three countries, ranging from the location in the United States to the enterprise in Mexico. This requires that, in designing the classification structure, consideration be given to the appropriate definition and delineation of the producing unit to be classified.

The output of many financial services, as well as the inputs and the processes by which they are combined, cannot be observed at a single location and can only be defined at a higher level of the organizational structure of the enterprise. Additionally, a number of independent activities that represent separate and distinct production processes may take place at a single location belonging to a multi-location financial firm. Activities are more likely to be homogeneous with respect to production characteristics than are locations, at least in financial services. The classification proposed defines activities broadly enough that it can be used both by those classifying by location and by those employing a more top-down approach to the delineation of the establishment.

Limitations and Constraints of the Classification

The classification of establishments engaged in activities that facilitate, or are otherwise related to, the various types of intermediation have been included in individual subsectors, rather than in a separate subsector dedicated to services alone. This is because these services are performed by intermediaries as well as by specialist establishments, and the extent to which the activity of the former can be separately identified is not clear. An aggregate that includes all of the service, wherever it is produced, is preferable to one that misses much of it. In particular, in many instances Mexico proposes to collect data on an institutional basis and would be unable to separate services. Aggregates for related activities are identified at the 3-digit industry group level, wherever possible. They can be reaggregated to a services subsector if desired.

The boundaries of the Finance and Insurance sector have been defined so as to encompass establishments primarily engaged in financial transactions—that is, transactions involving the creation, liquidation, or change in ownership of financial assets—or in facilitating financial transactions. Financial industries are extensive users of electronic means for facilitating the verification of financial balances, authorizing transactions, transferring funds to and from transactors' accounts, notifying banks (or credit card issuers) of the individual transactions and providing daily summaries. Since these transaction processing activities are integral to the production of finance and insurance services, establishments that principally provide a financial transaction processing service are classified to this sector, rather than to the data processing industry in the Information sector.

Funds, trusts and other financial vehicles that are not separate production units and do not have employees are excluded from the structure in the three-country agreement. The management of these funds can require significant human and capital resources, however, and the management activity is a major source of the value added in the investment intermediary industry. In NAICS, where there are separate establishments and employees devoted to the management of funds, they are classified in "Other Financial Investment Activities" by all three countries.

These legal entities that hold portfolios of assets on behalf of others are significant, however, and data on them are required for a variety of purposes. All three countries may include these legal entities in the compilation of financial and other statistics, but whereas Canada and Mexico do not propose to include them in their compilation of production statistics, the United States proposes to do so. The United States, therefore, has extended the boundary to include funds, trusts and other financial vehicles in a fifth subsector.

Relationship to ISIC

All of the industries included in this sector are contained within Divisions 65, Financial Intermediation, Except Insurance and Pension Funding; 66, Insurance and Pension Funding, and 67, Activities Auxiliary to Financial Intermediation in the current International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC, Revision 3) of the United Nations. ISIC Division 67, however, also includes actuarial consulting services, which are in the Professional, Scientific, and Technical subsector of NAICS.

For Finance and Insurance, NAICS differs from ISIC, Rev.3, in the following respects: there are fewer detailed industries in NAICS; NAICS does not distinguish between monetary intermediation and other intermediation; NAICS monetary authorities (ISIC central banking) are not part of depository credit intermediation; NAICS includes activities related to financial intermediation within each subsector, although to the extent that such industry groups are identified, they can be reaggregated to approximate ISIC Division 67; and those holding companies, pension funds, and other funds that are included in ISIC are excluded from NAICS.

Some Changes to the National Classifications

For Canada, an important revision is that the retail operations of banks, trust companies, and other related institutions, as well as the corporate and institutional activities of these institutions, are classified to Commercial Banking, which is in the Depository Credit Intermediation industry group. There are no longer separate classes for institutions as defined in the 1980 Canadian Standard Industrial Classification (CSIC), except credit unions.

The classes contained in Major Group 71 of the CSIC are to be found in a new industry group entitled Non-Depository Credit Intermediation in NAICS, with the exception of Venture Capital Companies, which are in the industry Miscellaneous Intermediation.

Activities related to depository and non-depository credit intermediation are included in a single industry group, Activities Related to Credit Intermediation, within the NAICS subsector, Credit Intermediation and Related Activities. For instance, central credit unions, clearing houses, and reserve and other depository services are included here. Previously all of the operations of credit card companies were classified to CSIC 7122, Credit Card Companies. In NAICS, establishments specializing in the lending activities associated with credit cards are classified in the industry, Credit Card Issuing, a component of the industry group, Non-Depository Credit Intermediation. Establishments involved in the processing of credit cards (including billing and collection) are classified in an industry within the industry group, Activities Related to Credit Intermediation. In Canada, any establishments primarily involved in the processing of credit cards and also involved in other financial transactions would be placed in the industry group, Activities Related to Credit Intermediation.

There are also important revisions in the treatment of investment intermediary industries. CSIC Major Group 72, Investment Intermediary Industries, includes establishments engaged in investing in a portfolio of securities and other investments on behalf of shareholders or unit holders. Also included in this major group are various funds and holding companies. The funds themselves are the result of savings attributable to other sectors of the economy, do not have a direct role in production, and have been excluded from NAICS. The management of these funds can require significant human and capital resources and is the primary source of the value added in this industry. Where there are separate establishments with employees devoted to the management of funds, such as in the case of mutual fund management companies, they are classified in the industry group, Other Financial Investment Activities.

For Mexico, this sector corresponds almost entirely to the combination of CMAP's subsector 81 (Insurance and financial services) and branch 9740 (Services related to financial, insurance and bond institutions). The current subsector 81 comprises 18 activity classes and branch 9740 has 5 additional classes; of these 23 classes, 11 are entirely comparable with other similar NAICS industry classes, whereas the remaining 12 underwent some changes.

Class 811046 (Non-banking Institutions engaged in savings and loans) and class 811047 (other credit institutions) are included in NAICS subsector, Credit Intermediation and Related Activities; class 813002 refers to insurance services that is included in NAICS industry group Insurance Carriers.

On the other hand, some minor CMAP classes were regrouped or placed in miscellaneous NAICS industries as in the case of surety services (813001) or the financial advisory category and development committees (811045).

Many NAICS activities will not be applicable in the case of Mexico since they refer to activities that do not exist in that country, although some may be created in the future. These activities are credit unions, interbanking and reserve boards, consumer credit, real estate credit, mortgage brokers and other credit, securities and commodity brokerage. The two other "new" industries with respect to the CMAP are miscellaneous industries generated by the restructuring of this sector.

Most of the current CMAP classes will correspond either to a NAICS industry or to a national industry. So, in fact, with respect to the CMAP, these changes do not represent a great impact on the time series.

For the United States, 1987 SIC Major Group 60, Depository Institutions, and 1987 SIC Major Group 61, Non-Depository Credit Institutions, differ from NAICS subsector Credit Intermediation and Related Activities in that the NAICS subsector does not include the central bank, which is in a subsector of its own; and a number of activities are broken out as industries and classified in other industry groups or subsectors—trust, fiduciary, and custody services, for example. In addition, NAICS recognizes the lending activities of pawnbrokers in this subsector; pawnbrokers were classified in 1987 SIC 5932, Used Merchandise Stores.

1987 SIC Major Group 62, Security and Commodity Brokers, Dealers, Exchanges, and Services, differs from NAICS subsector Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities in that the NAICS subsector more clearly delineates the distinction between portfolio management (classified here) and the assets under management (excluded from NAICS); it includes the trust, fiduciary, and custody activities of banks and other financial institutions; it includes part of 1987 SIC 6733, Trusts Except Educational, Religious, and Charitable; it includes part of 1987 SIC 6792, Oil Royalty Traders; and it includes part of 1987 SIC 6799, Investors Not Elsewhere Classified.

1987 SIC Major Group 63, Insurance Carriers, and 1987 SIC Major Group 64, Insurance Agents, Brokers, and Service, differ from NAICS subsector Insurance Carriers and Related Activities in that the NAICS subsector excludes those pension and other employee benefit funds that are simply legal entities organized to hold portfolios of securities and other assets on behalf of the beneficiaries of the funds.

Most of 1987 SIC Major Group 67, Holding and Other Investment Offices, is not included in the Finance and Insurance subsector in NAICS. 1987 SIC Industry Group 671, Holding Companies, and 1987 SIC Industry Group 672, Investment Offices, are included in the Funds, Trusts, and Other Financial Vehicles subsector, which is not part of NAICS but is a U.S. only subsector. 1987 SIC 6732, Educational, Religious, and Charitable Trusts, is included in the Religious, Grantmaking, Civic and Other Membership Organizations subsector; part of 1987 SIC 6733, Trusts Except Educational, Religious, and Charitable, is included in the Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities and part in Funds, Trusts and Other Financial Vehicles subsector; 1987 SIC 6794, Patent Owners and Lessors, is now a separate subsector; and 1987 SIC 6798, Real Estate Investment Trusts, and part of 1987 SIC 6799, Investors Not Elsewhere Classified, are included in the Funds, Trusts, and Other Financial Vehicles subsector.

Achievement of Objectives

The classification meets the objectives for the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). It is based on the production function concept, and it groups establishments with similar production processes. Data for financial institutions carrying out several activities will need to be disaggregated into their components for classification.

The classification achieves comparability at the subsector or industry group level for the three countries and at the industry level for Canada and the United States. The unique aspects of the financial systems in the three countries, as well as countries' differing abilities to break down institutional data into their component activities, are accommodated through the provision of a number of national industries in the classification.

To the extent possible, the classification structure allows for the delineation of new and emerging industries in this sector by taking into account the foreseeable changes in regulation. Innovative use of technology allows the sector to rapidly develop new products and to deliver them in new ways.

 52429 Other Insurance Related Activities

As mentioned earlier, Canada and the United States have agreed to subdivide the NAICS structure and create a number of industries. Three additional industry groups are specified, all in the sector Credit Intermediation and Related Activities, and 23 industries are defined in the industry groups that are not detailed in NAICS. As compared with the existing classifications, the major features of the proposed elaboration of the NAICS classification structure for this sector are the following:

- Financial intermediation is more clearly differentiated from services facilitating or otherwise related to financial intermediation.
- Industries are more homogeneous in terms of the activities included.
- The classification is less reflective of regulatory definitions.
- The proposed NAICS structure clearly differentiates between the management of funds and the assets under management.
- Remaining class of customer distinctions reflect true differences in production processes.

The NAICS subsector Credit Intermediation and Related Activities is subdivided into three industry groups: Depository Credit Intermediation, Non-Depository Credit Intermediation, and Activities Related to Credit Intermediation. The first industry group, Depository Credit Intermediation, consists of establishments that raise the funds they lend by accepting deposits; within it, industries are defined on the basis of differences in the types of deposit liabilities assumed and the nature of the credit extended. The second industry group, Non-Depository Credit Intermediation, consists of establishments that fund themselves by borrowing from other financial intermediaries or by issuing commercial paper and other debt instruments; within this group, industries are defined on the basis of the type of credit being extended. The third industry group, Activities Related to Credit Intermediation, consists of establishments that facilitate credit intermediation by such activities as bringing borrowers and lenders together and clearing checks and credit card transactions.

The NAICS industry group Securities and Commodity Contracts Intermediation and Brokerage is subdivided into four industries that distinguish between brokers who bring together buyers and sellers of financial instruments, usually charging a commission, and establishments that intermediate by putting capital at risk and that are compensated by price spreads on the instruments they trade. An additional distinction is made between establishments operating in securities markets and establishments operating in commodities contract markets.

The NAICS industry group Other Financial Investment Activities is subdivided into four industries. Miscellaneous Intermediation consists of establishments that put capital at risk in instruments other than securities and commodity contracts. Establishments in Portfolio Management have authority to direct the use or investment of funds or other assets; for a fee, they buy and sell securities or other assets in portfolios of assets entrusted to them and make decisions about the objectives and content of these portfolios. Investment Advice consists of establishments that provide investment information on a fee basis, but do not have authority to execute trades. Establishments in All Other Financial Investment Activities are engaged in such activities as providing trust, fiduciary and custody services.

The NAICS industry group Insurance Carriers is subdivided into three industries. Direct Life Insurance Carriers underwrite annuities and life, accidental death and dismemberment, and disability income insurance directly to policyholders. Direct Non-Life Insurance Carriers underwrite various lines of insurance (other than life insurance) directly to policyholders. Reinsurance Carriers assume all or part of insurance policies originally written by another carrier.

The NAICS industry group Agencies, Brokerages, and Other Insurance Related Activities is subdivided into two industries. Insurance Agencies and Brokerages consists of establishments that sell insurance products. Other Insurance Related Activities consists of establishments providing, on a fee or contract basis, such insurance services as claims administration and adjusting.

Section B—Annex: United States National Industry Detail

As explained in the Structure presentation of this notice, the three country agreement on NAICS envisions that each country may develop national detail industries below the NAICS industry level, so long as the national detail can be aggregated to the NAICS classification, thus assuring full North American comparability. As explained earlier, for finance and insurance the three countries agreed to comparability at either the subsector or the industry group level. However, Canada and the United States have agreed to a classification that extends comparability to the 5-digit industry level. Attachment 3 shows the industry detail agreed upon by Canada and the United States. These industries can be aggregated to the NAICS classifications, thus assuring full North American comparability.

The ECPC is proposing U.S. 6-digit industry detail for this NAICS industry sector. In the following tables, proposed 6-digit detail is shown. For cases where no 6-digit detail is shown, the ECPC is proposing that the 5-digit industries will also represent the most detailed U.S. industries.

In addition to the 6-digit detail, there is a U.S.-only subsector—Funds, Trusts, and Other Financial Vehicles—that provides a classification structure for legal entities organized to hold portfolios of securities or other assets on behalf of shareholders, beneficiaries of pension funds, etc. The portfolio is customized so as to achieve specific investment characteristics, such as diversification, risk, rate of return, and price volatility. These entities earn interest, dividends, and other property income, but have no employment or revenue from the sale of services. The funds themselves are excluded from the NAICS classification, because they are not separate production units and do not have employees, although establishments with employees devoted to the management of funds are classified in several of the industries within the NAICS subsectors Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities and Insurance Carriers and Related Activities.

Despite their lack of employment, these funds are economically significant, and the United States requires data related to them for various purposes. For instance, financial flow accounts and balance of payments accounts track changes in outstanding assets and liabilities, and interest and dividend income earnings are important in determining the distribution of income. Moreover, funds are frequently given tax numbers, become part of the survey frame, and are sometimes surveyed. It is necessary to have a structure for classifying such records and keeping them separate from those of producing units. Consequently, these funds are placed in a U.S.-only subsector at the end of the NAICS classification structure. Included in this subsector are: Holding Companies, Insurance and Employee Benefit Funds, and Investment Pools and Funds.

Overview of the U.S. Classification Structure

1987 SIC Major Group 60, Depository Institutions, differs from industry group Depository Credit Intermediation in that the new industry group does not include the central bank, which is in a subsector of its own; industries are no longer defined by charter; and a number of activities are broken out as industries and classified in other industry groups or subsectors—trust, fiduciary, and custody services, for example. In addition, activities such as clearing houses and reserve services, which were part of 1987 SIC Major Group 60, are classified to the new industry group Activities Related to Credit Intermediation.

1987 SIC Major Group 61, Non-Depository Credit Institutions, is similar in coverage to the new industry group Non-Depository Credit Intermediation, but, in the latter, industry detail is based on production differences in granting particular types of credit, not on class of customers or on the extent of government sponsorship. In particular, the activities previously included in 1987 Industry Group 615, Business Credit Institutions, are now more clearly specified. In addition, NAICS recognizes the lending activities of pawnbrokers in this subsector; pawnbrokers were classified in 1987 SIC 5932, Used Merchandise Stores. In addition, activities such as mortgage brokers and financial transactions processing are classified to the new industry group Activities Related to Credit Intermediation.

1987 SIC Major Group 62, Security and Commodity Brokers, Dealers, Exchanges, and Services, differs from NAICS subsector Securities, Commodity Contracts, and Other Intermediation and Related Activities in that the NAICS subsector separates brokerage from underwriting and dealing; it more clearly delineates the distinction between portfolio management (classified here) and the assets under management (excluded from NAICS but shown as U.S. detail); and it includes the trust, fiduciary, and custody activities of banks and other financial institutions.

1987 SIC Major Groups 63, Insurance Carriers, and 64, Insurance Agents, Brokers, and Service, differ from NAICS subsector Insurance Carriers and Related Activities in that in NAICS, reinsurance carriers are separated from direct insurance carriers; pension and other employee benefit funds (now in the U.S. subsector Funds, Trusts, and Other Financial Vehicles) are no longer included; and separate industries are defined for several insurance-related services.

1987 Major Group 67, Holding and Other Investment Offices, differs from the U.S.-only subsector Funds, Trusts, and Other Financial Vehicles, in that the latter includes 1987 SIC 6371, Pension, Health and Welfare Funds, but excludes 1987 SIC 6732, Educational, Religious, and Charitable Trusts; 1987 SIC 6792, Oil Royalty Traders; 1987 SIC 6794, Patent Owners and Lessors; and 1987 SIC 6799, Investors NEC. 1987 SIC 6732 has been transferred to the Religious, Grantmaking, Civic, and Other Membership Association subsector on the grounds that they are essentially treasury establishments supporting the charitable purposes of the entities that own the assets under management. Part of 1987 SIC 6792, Oil Royalty Traders, and part of 1987 SIC 6794, Patent Owners and Lessors, have been transferred to a new subsector. The remainder of 1987 SIC 6792, Oil Royalty Traders, and 1987 SIC 6799, Investors, NEC, are classified in Miscellaneous Financial Investment Activities.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

There are 44 industries in this sector, of which 23 are new, 14 are revised, and 7 remain the same as in the 1987 SIC.

1. Monetary Authorities—Central Bank: There were two industries in this subsector for 1987. One, 1987 SIC 6011, Federal Reserve Banks, remains in this subsector; the other, 1987 SIC 6019, Central Reserve Depository Institutions, NEC, is moved to Credit Intermediation and Related Activities.

2. Credit Intermediation and Related Activities: Eight new industries are added to the 1997 industry structure for this subsector. New industries are the following:

Other Depository Credit Intermediation from part of 1987 SIC 6099, Functions Related to Depository Banking, NEC.

Credit Card Issuing from part of 1987 SIC 6021, National Commercial Banks; part of 1987 SIC 6022, State Commercial Banks; and part of 1987 SIC 6141, Personal Credit Institutions.

Sales Financing and Finance Leasing from part of 1987 SIC 6141, Personal Credit Institutions' part of 1987 SIC 6153, Short-Term Business Credit Institutions, Except Agricultural; and part of 1987 SIC 6159, Miscellaneous Business Credit Institutions.

International Trade Financing from part of 1987 SIC 6081, Branches and Agencies of Foreign Banks; from 1987 SIC 6082, Foreign Trade and International Banking Institutions; part of 1987 SIC 6111, Federal and Federally-Sponsored Credit Agencies; and part of 1987 SIC 6159, Miscellaneous Business Credit Institutions.

Secondary Market Financing from part of 1987 SIC 6111, Federal and Federally-Sponsored Credit Agencies.

Construction

This draft classification is provided for the Construction sector.

The Construction sector includes establishments primarily engaged in the construction of buildings and other structures, additions, alterations, reconstruction, installations and maintenance and repairs. The industries within this sector have been defined on the basis of their unique production processes. As with all industries, the production processes are distinguished by their use of specialized human resources and specialized physical capital. Construction activities are generally administered or managed at a relatively fixed place of business, but the actual construction work is performed at one or more different project sites.

This sector is divided into three subsectors of construction activities: (1) building construction and land subdivision and land development; (2) heavy construction other than buildings, such as highways, tunnels, and pipelines; and (3) construction activity by special trade contractors.

Establishments classified in the Building, Developing and General Contracting subsector and the Heavy Construction (other than buildings) subsector, usually assume responsibility for an entire construction project, and may subcontract some or all of the actual construction work. Operative builders who build on their own account for sale, and Land Subdividers and Land Developers, who engage in subdividing real property into lots for sale, are included in the Building, Developing and General Contracting subsector. Special Trade Contractors can be included in the Heavy Construction subsector if they are engaged in activities primarily relating to heavy construction, such as grading for highways. Some establishments included in these subsectors operate under arrangements such as design-build, engineer-constructor, joint venture, and turnkey construction. Construction management is also included.

The Special Trade Contractors subsector includes establishments that are primarily engaged in specialized construction activities, such as plumbing, painting, and electrical work and work for builders and general contractors under subcontract or directly for project owners.

“Force Account” construction is construction work performed by an establishment primarily engaged in some business other than construction, for its own account and use, and by employees of the establishment. This activity is not included in this industry sector unless the construction work performed is the primary activity of a separate establishment of the enterprise.

The installation of prefabricated building equipment and materials, such as elevators and revolving doors, is classified in the construction industry sector. Installation work incidental to sales by employees of a manufacturing or retail establishment is classified as secondary activity of those establishments.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

The overall number of industries for the Construction sector increased from 26 to 28 from the 1987 SIC.

Three new industries were created for the Heavy Construction subsector as follows: 1987 SIC 1623, Water, Sewer,

Pipeline, and Communications and Power Line Construction is split into two industries: Water, Sewer and Pipeline Construction and Power and Communication Transmission Line Construction. The third new industry is Industrial Nonbuilding Structure Construction from part of 1987 SIC

1629, Heavy Construction, NEC. The split of 1987 SIC 1623 into two industries reflects the proposal received from outside users. This change improves the comparability with the grouping used in Canada. The split of 1987 SIC 1629 separates heavy construction activities for industrial nonbuilding construction from the nonindustrial nonbuilding construction and groups similar production activities. The result is improved reporting of information in greater detail according to industrial versus nonindustrial nonbuilding grouping and a reduction in the NEC classification.

One industry, 1987 SIC 6552, Land Subdividers and Developers, Except Cemetery was moved from 1987 SIC 65, Real Estate, to the Construction sector because the production process is more closely related to the production process of construction industries in the Building, Developing, and General Contracting subsector.

In addition, part of 1987 SIC 7353, Heavy Construction Equipment Rental and Leasing (with operators), was moved to the Construction sector because these establishments become part of the production process. The move was recommended by the Business Services Subcommittee to improve comparability with Canada and Mexico.

A number of changes were made to 1987 industries in the Construction sector. These changes are:

1987 SIC 1531, Operative Builders, was deleted as a separate industry. These establishments are now included in the Building, Developing, and General Contracting subsector based on type of construction activity. The production process for these establishments is the same as other contractors who engage in constructing buildings and structures with the exception that these buildings are generally for sale on own account. The kinds of construction classified in 1987 SIC 1531 and the production processes associated with them are comparable to and consistent with the types of construction and production processes of building contractors in general. The existence of an operative builder classification is duplicative and only the U.S. includes a separate 4-digit industry specifically for operative builders. Canada and Mexico provide for operative builders within all relevant types of construction. The existence of a separate industry creates an incomparability between the three systems and this change increases comparability among the Canadian, Mexican and the U.S. classification systems.

Hotel and motel construction was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1522, General Contractors—Residential Building, Other Than Single Family, to Commercial and Institutional Building Construction. Also warehouse construction was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1541, General Contractors—Industrial Buildings and Warehouses, to Commercial and Institution Building Construction. The construction activity and physical capital used in hotel, motel, and warehouse construction are closely related to the construction activity and physical capital used by nonresidential building contractors. The reassignment of the hotel and motel construction to commercial and institutional buildings will not create collectability and reportability problems. In fact, such problems may be reduced. Because contractors are more likely to classify hotels and motels within nonresidential or commercial buildings, reassigning the two items enhances the logic of the system and may improve data collectability and reportability. This change will create explicit consistency with the Canadian classification system and implicit comparability with the Mexican classification system.

1987 SIC 1611, Highway and Street Construction, Except Elevated Highways, and 1987 SIC 1622, Bridge, Tunnel, and Elevated Highway Construction, are grouped together in the industry group Highway, Street, Bridge and Tunnel Construction in the Heavy Construction subsector. The establishments in both industries have similar production processes.

Fresco work was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1743, Terrazzo, Tile, Marble, and Mosaic Work, to Drywall, Plastering, Acoustical and Insulation Contractors. Fresco work is similar to the work performed by specialty plaster contractors. In Canada, fresco work is included with the plastering industry.

Stucco construction was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1771, Concrete Work, to Drywall, Plastering, Acoustical and Insulation Contractors. Stucco work is done by plastering contractors on interior ceilings and walls. Stucco work is similar to plastering and drywall work and is not considered to be concrete work construction. Canada includes stucco work with the plastering industry.

Paint and wallpaper removal was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1799, Specialty Trade Contractors, NEC, to Painting and Wall Covering Contractors. The production process for paint and wallpaper stripping activities are more closely allied with the activities of painting and wall covering contractors than with Other Special Trade contractors. This move achieves comparability with Canada and reduces the U.S. NEC classification.

Tinting glass was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1799, Specialty Trade Contractors, NEC, to Glass and Glazing Contractors. The production process for glass tinting is more closely allied with glass and glazing construction activities. This move improves comparability with Canada. All of the above recommended changes in the classification of fresco, stucco, paint and wallpaper removal, and tinting glass improve comparability with Canada and do not reduce the comparability with Mexico.

Burglar and fire alarm installation (with incidental installation) was moved from part of 1987 SIC 1731, Electrical Work, to Security System Services, except Locksmiths in the Management and Support Services subsector because more and more establishments that install also offer monitoring services. This change was proposed by an outside user.

Utilities

The Utilities sector includes three industry groups. The first industry group, Electric Power Generation, Transmission and Distribution, includes establishments that provide electric power, services to both businesses and households. These are grouped together based on the presence of the system required to provide the services to the customers location. The second, Natural Gas Distribution, includes establishments that provide for the distribution of natural gas via pipelines to final customers. The last industry group, Water, Sewerage, and Other Systems, includes establishments that provide water, irrigation, sewerage and other services to customers. This group includes separate classifications for water and irrigation systems, sewerage systems, and steam and air-conditioning supply.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

The U.S. detail for the Utilities sector consists of two subsectors, six industry groups, and 21 U.S. detail industries. For 1987, there were 14 industries.

For the electrical power industry group, NAICS has added new detail for four classifications that identify different types of power plants including Hydroelectric Power Generation, Fossil Fuel Electric Power Generation, Nuclear Electric Power Generation, and Other Electric Power Generation. The Electric Power Transmission, Distribution, and Control industry group includes two U.S. detail classifications that identify establishments that provide transmission and control services separately from those that provide for the distribution of power to final customers.

The change to 1987 Industry Group 492, Gas Production and Distribution, separates the activities of transmission and distribution. The natural gas transmission activities included in 1987 SIC 4924, Natural Gas Transmission, and 1987 SIC 4923, Natural Gas Transmission and Distribution, have been moved to the Transportation sector. 1987 SIC 4925, Mixed, Manufactured, or Liquefied Gas Production and/or Distribution, has been eliminated. These activities along with the distribution activities included in 1987 SIC 4923, Natural Gas Transmission and Distribution, have been consolidated with 1987 SIC 4922, Natural Gas Distribution. The industries for combination utilities, 1987 SIC 4931, Electric and Other Services Combined, and 1987 SIC 4932, Gas and Other Services Combined, and 1987 SIC 4939, Combination Utilities, Not Elsewhere Classified, have been eliminated. These activities will be classified according to their primary activity.

Waste Management and Remediation Services

The Waste Management and Remediation Services subsector includes establishments engaged in collection, treatment, and disposal of waste materials. This includes establishments providing related services like materials recovery facilities (those that sort recyclable materials from the trash stream), remediation services (those that provide for the cleanup of polluted ground, ground water, etc.), septic and sewer services, and other sanitary services. There are three industry groups within the subsector which separate these activities into Waste Collection, Waste Treatment and Disposal, and Remediation Services and Other Waste Management.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

1987 SIC 4953, Refuse Systems, has been restructured to separate the operations of waste collection and waste disposal. This includes moving the garbage collection activity included in 1987 SIC 4212, Local Trucking Without Storage, from Transportation and combining it with the collection activities included in 1987 SIC 4953, Refuse Systems. There are separate classifications for hazardous waste, solid waste landfills, solid waste incinerators and other nonhazardous waste treatment.

The miscellaneous sanitary services classification (1987 SIC 4959, Sanitary Services, Not Elsewhere Classified) has also been split to separate the Remediation Services.

Retail

In most sectors of NAICS, the statistical agencies of Canada, Mexico, and the United States agreed to a detailed structure that includes subsectors, industry groups, and detailed industry definitions. However, because both resources and time for constructing NAICS were limited, in the the Retail Trade sector, the three statistical agencies agreed that only the boundaries of the sectors will be made comparable internationally at the present time. The structure and detailed definitions of the industries within the boundaries will be determined by national requirements. The three country agreement on the boundaries of retail and wholesale trade was published in the May 28, 1996, Federal Register, pp. 26642–26644.

For Retail Trade, Canada and the United States have agreed to restructure their respective existing 4-digit hierarchies to provide for more comparable data at the detailed industry level between the two countries. This resulted primarily in developing a new hierarchy that better reflects the structure of economic activity occurring within the two countries. The United States will provide for additional industries at the national level to reflect important industries in the United States. The ECPC is proposing 5-digit industries that will be comparable with Canada and 6-digit national detail industries as shown in Table 1 for Retail Trade. In that table, where no 6-digit detail is shown, the ECPC is proposing that the NAICS 5-digit industries will also represent the most detailed U.S. industries.

The Retail Trade sector is divided into twelve subsectors: Motor Vehicles and Parts Dealers; Furniture and Home Furnishing Stores; Electronics and Appliance Stores; Building Materials and Garden Equipment and Supplies Dealers; Food and Beverage Stores; Health and Personal Care Stores; Gasoline Stations; Clothing and Accessories Stores; Sports, Hobby, Book and Music Stores; General Merchandise Stores; Miscellaneous Store Retailers; and Nonstore Retailers.

Two types of retailers are identified. Store retailers sell goods through a sales location and/or stores and are differentiated by characteristics of the location and selling equipment, the types and variety of services provided, and the skills of the personnel. Nonstore retailers sell goods by means other than through the sales location or store. Nonstore retailers include establishments engaged in activities like television and electronic shopping, mail order sales, door-to-door sales, home fuel sales, and sales through portable stands and stalls. The principal distinction is that the business comes to the customer rather than the customer going to the business.

Store retailers are divided into 11 subsectors. Motor Vehicle and Parts Dealers operate from a showroom and/or an open lot where the vehicles are on display. The display of vehicles and the related parts require little by way of display equipment. The personnel include both the sales and sales support staff familiar with the requirements for registering, licensing, and financing a vehicle as well as a staff of parts experts and mechanics trained to provide repair and maintenance services for the vehicles. Specific industries have been included in this subsector to identify the type of vehicle being sold.

The Furniture and Home Furnishing Stores also usually operate from showrooms; however, their expertise is in the areas of decorating and coordinating the furniture and accessories for the home. Many of these establishments offer interior decorating services in conjunction with the sale of products. Furniture Stores provide substantial areas for the proper presentation of the furniture which differentiates them within this group. The Floor Covering Stores maintain special equipment for the handling and display of the rolled carpet. Window Treatment Stores have special display equipment and have expertise in the way curtains, drapes, and shades should be matched to the particular type of window and coordinated with the style of furnishings being used in the room.

Electronics and Appliance Stores operate from locations that have special provisions for floor displays requiring special electrical capacity to accommodate the proper demonstration of the products. The staff includes sales personnel knowledgeable in the characteristics, warranties, etc. of the line of goods sold and may also include trained repairmen to handle the maintenance and repair of the electronic equipment and appliances. The classifications within this subsector are made principally on the type of product and repair knowledge required to operate each store.

Building Materials and Garden Equipment and Supplies Dealers have display equipment designed to handle lumber and related products and garden equipment and supplies that may be kept either indoors or outdoors under covered areas. The staff is usually well versed in the use of the specific products being sold in the construction, repair, and maintenance of the home and associated grounds. Hardware Stores are identified separately based on the display equipment and expertise in the use of tools and related equipment sold at these stores. Home center stores are identified separately based on the display equipment for lumber and the expertise in the use of tools and related equipment. Paint and wallpaper stores have special equipment to color and mix paint and display wallpaper. Outdoor power equipment stores typically have both inside and outside displays of equipment and provide the expertise to repair and maintain the equipment. Nursery and garden centers have the equipment and expertise to maintain a stock of live trees and plants.

Food and beverage stores have special equipment for the display of the goods usually including refrigerators, freezers, and refrigerated display cases. They have staff trained in the processing of food products to guarantee the proper storage and sanitary conditions required by regulatory authority. General grocery stores are separated between convenience stores and supermarket and other grocery stores based on the mix of products. Supermarkets and other grocery stores maintain a broad variety of products including a number of highly perishable goods. Convenience stores sell a narrow line of products that includes very few perishable products. Meat markets are separated based on the equipment (extensive use of refrigeration) and the expertise to properly prepare meat products. Fish and seafood markets share much of the same refrigeration equipment but also have special equipment and skill to properly process the seafood products safely. Fruit and vegetable markets have many health and safety considerations but have far less by way of refrigeration equipment. Baked goods stores and candy, nut, and confectionery stores are separated based on the product.

Health and personal care stores are characterized principally by specialized staff trained in dealing with the products. This includes pharmacists, beauticians, opticians, and other professionals that sell and may fit the product sold to the customer needs. This expertise is the principal basis for the distinctions within this subsector.

Gasoline stations are establishments that sell gasoline and diesel fuel. As such, they have specialized equipment for the storage and dispensing of automotive fuels.

Clothing and accessories stores have similar display equipment and staff that are knowledgeable regarding fashion trends and the proper match of styles, colors, and combinations of clothing and accessories to the characteristics and tastes of the customer.

Sports, hobby, book and music stores are establishments that provide expertise on use of sporting equipment or other specific activities such as needlework, musical instruments, etc. Book stores are also included in this grouping.

General merchandise stores are unique in that they have the equipment and staff capable of selling a large variety of goods from a single location. This includes a variety of display equipment and staff trained to provide information on many lines of products. Department Stores have been identified separately based on the operation of separate subunits or departments within the stores. The warehouse clubs and other general merchandise stores are separated based on the use of equipment for both the processing of food and nonfood items. This is a new and emerging industry that has not previously been identified in the classification system.

Miscellaneous store retailers include stores with unique characteristics like florists, used merchandise stores, and pet and pet supply stores as well as other store retailers.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

Seventeen new industries have been added to the Retail Trade sector. These new industries are the following:

Automotive Parts and Supplies Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5013, Motor Vehicle Supplies and New Parts; part of 1987 SIC 5731, Radio, Television and Consumer Electronics Stores; and part of 1987 SIC 5531, Auto and Home Supply Stores.

Tire Dealers from part of 1987 SIC 5014, Tires and Tubes, and part of 1987 SIC 5531, Auto and Home Supply Stores. These changes were made to incorporate the revised boundaries of retail/wholesale and improve comparability with Canada.

Window Treatment Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5714, Drapery, Curtain, and Upholstery Stores, and 1987 SIC 5719, Miscellaneous Home Furnishings Stores, to recognize a growing and unique type of store.

Home Centers from part of 1987 SIC 5211, Lumber and Other Building Materials Dealers. Home Centers are identified separately based on the equipment and personnel expertise required to sell both lumber and the related products included in this classification.

Outdoor Power Equipment Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5083, Farm and Garden Machinery and Equipment, and part of 1987 SIC 5261, Retail Nurseries, Lawn and Garden Supply Stores. Outdoor power equipment stores provide trained staff to sell and service power equipment while nursery and garden centers employ staff that are knowledgeable about plants. These stores also have the equipment necessary to maintain a stock of living plants, etc.

Supermarkets and Grocery Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5411, Grocery Stores.

Convenience Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5411, Grocery Stores.

Fish and Seafood Markets from part of 1987 SIC 5421, Meat and Fish (Seafood) Markets, Including Freezer Provisioners. These three new industries employ distinct production processes.

Cosmetics, Beauty Supplies and Perfume Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5087, Service Establishment Equipment and Supplies, and part of 1987 SIC 5999, Miscellaneous Retail Stores, Not Elsewhere Classified. These types of stores are growing in number and are more like each other than the stores in the industries in which they were formerly classified.

Food (Health) Supplement Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5499, Miscellaneous Food Stores.

All Other Health and Personal Care Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5047, Medical, Dental and Hospital Equipment and Supplies, and part of 1987 SIC 5999, Miscellaneous Retail Stores, Not Elsewhere Classified. These are distinct types of stores and also reduce the size of the miscellaneous category.

Gasoline Stations with Convenience Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5541, Gasoline Stations, and part of 1987 SIC 5541, Gasoline Service Stations. Gasoline stations with convenience stores combine the processes of gas stations (requiring special equipment like gas pumps) and convenience stores (requiring food display and refrigeration equipment).

Other Gasoline Stations from part of 1987 SIC 5541, Gasoline Stations. These gasoline stations do not have a convenience store.

Accessories Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5611, Men's and Boys' Clothing and Accessories Stores; part of 1987 SIC 5632, Women's Accessory and Specialty Stores; and part of 1987 SIC 5699, Miscellaneous Apparel and Accessory Stores.

Warehouse Clubs and Other General Merchandise Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5399, Miscellaneous General Merchandise Stores and part of 1987 SIC 5411, Grocery Stores. These stores are separated based on the equipment and personnel required to handle a wide variety of products.

Pet and Pet Supply Stores from part of 1987 SIC 5999, Miscellaneous Retail Stores, Not Elsewhere Classified.

Art Dealers from part of 1987 SIC 5999, Miscellaneous Retail Stores.

The number of industries in this industry sector increased from 64 in 1987 to 72 in 1997. For time series linkage, 44 of the 64 industries are comparable within three percent of the 1997 industries. For five other industries, changes involve splitting a part of 1987 industries to obtain more industry detail in response to new economic developments in this sector. For these industries, the new, more detailed industries can readily be reaggregated for analytical purposes where time series comparability is important.

Wholesale

For Wholesale Trade, the ECPC is proposing only those changes necessary to define the boundaries of Wholesale Trade agreed upon with Canada and Mexico. Rather, the ECPC proposes to undertake a thorough review of the wholesale sector, in cooperation with its North American partners, within the next five years that may result in a complete restructuring of the wholesale sector in the next revision. That review will focus on the different types of wholesalers that undertake different activities and provide different services. For example, some wholesalers may be directly associated with a manufacturer, such as a manufacturer's sales branches. Manufacturer's sales branches promote and sell a particular manufacturers' product to a wide range of other wholesalers or retailers. Other wholesalers may be connected to a retail chain or a limited number of retail chains and only provide a variety of products needed by that particular retail operation(s). Still other wholesalers may take title to goods and provide a wide range of products to a wide range of retailers. Some analysts have suggested that these types of distinctions, based on activities and services provided, should be made in the industry classification system rather than the product distinction that is imbedded in the current system.

Therefore, to avoid disrupting time series, the ECPC proposes to make no changes for 1997 except those needed for clarification of the boundaries of wholesale trade. Proposals to restructure the wholesale sector may be made in the next revision based on the study to be undertaken. This delay also will allow the U.S. to consult more thoroughly with its North American partners and design a system that provides for more comparability with Canada and Mexico. The proposed structure for Wholesale Trade for 1997 is shown in Table 1.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

Changes to the Wholesale Trade sector were generally the result of the movement of activities to or from wholesale trade from other sectors in NAICS.

Four activities that were in Wholesale Trade in the 1987 SIC are moved to Manufacturing. These activities are reconditioning and sale of drums and barrels, boxed beef processors, and piece goods converters. The sale of reconditioned drums and barrels was included in 1987 SIC 5085, Industrial Supplies. Dealers in boxed beef receive carcasses, cut them up, and then vacuum seal the cuts. These establishments were in 1987 SIC 5147, Meat and Meat Products. Establishments that purchase fabrics in the gray and contract to have the fabric dyed are referred to as piece goods converters. They were in 1987 SIC 5131, Piece Goods, Notions, and Other Dry Goods. Establishments that sell advertising specialties were 1987 SIC 5199, Nondurable Goods, Not Elsewhere Classified. For NAICS, this activity is included in Advertising Services.

Establishments engaged in the wholesale distribution of prerecorded video tapes were included in 1987 SIC 7822, Motion Picture and Video Tape Distribution. In NAICS, this activity is included in Wholesale Trade as Other Miscellaneous Durable Goods.

In the 1987 SIC, the principal determination of whether an establishment was included in wholesale or retail was whether the goods were sold to business consumers (wholesale) or household consumers (retail). In NAICS, an establishment is included in either retail or wholesale based on its production characteristics (see Agreement 25 published in the May 28, 1996 Federal Register, pp.26642–26644). Thus, establishments that sell goods to business users through retail methods are included in the Retail Trade sector in NAICS. This affects several industries within Wholesale but primarily those establishments selling such items as computers, office supplies, and electrical building materials.

Real Estate

This draft classification provides for the subsector Real Estate.

The Real Estate subsector comprises establishments that rent real estate to others, manage real estate for others, and/or facilitate the sale and/or rental of real estate.

The industry group Lessors of Real Estate comprises establishments that own real estate that in turn is leased to others. Rent is the major source of revenue for these establishments. The industries, Lessors of Residential Buildings and Dwellings, Lessors of Nonresidential Buildings, Except Warehouses, Lessors of Miniwarehouses and Self Storage Units, and Lessors of Other Real Estate Property, are based on processes needed for the different types of properties being leased.

The industry group Activities Related to Real Estate comprises establishments primarily engaged in providing real estate services, other than those owning and leasing. The industries included in this industry group are the following:

Real Estate Property Managers comprises establishments responsible for ensuring that various activities associated with the overall operation of property are performed (property managers do not own the property). Property managers are usually hired by the property owners, and their major source of revenue is fees charged for their management services. The industries, Condominium Management, Cooperative Housing, and Homeowners' Associations, Other Residential Property Managers, and Other Nonresidential Property Managers are distinguished by the types of property managed by the establishment.

The industry Offices of Real Estate Agents and Brokers comprises establishments engaged in renting, buying, and selling real property on behalf of others. The establishments usually receive commission as revenue. The staff at these establishments receive special certification and licensing to perform the specific duties.

The remaining discrete industries, Offices of Real Estate Appraisers and Title Abstract Offices, use staff who receive specialized training, certification, and licensing to perform the specific duties.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

Seven new industries were created for this subsector as follows:

Lessors of Miniwarehouses and Self Storage Units from part of 1987 SIC 4225, General Warehousing and Storage. These establishments collect rent from a person (company) who uses the facility and has access to the space without undue interference or assistance from the facility operator. This activity is more like lessors of real estate than general warehousing and storage.

Condominium Management, Cooperative Housing, and Homeowners' Associations from part of 1987 SIC 6531, Real Estate Agents and Managers, and part of 1987 SIC 8641, Civic, Social, and Fraternal Associations.

Other Residential Property Managers; Other Nonresidential Property Managers; Offices of Real Estate Agents and Brokers; Offices of Real Estate Appraisers; and All Other Activities Related to Real Estate were each created from part of 1987 SIC 6531, Real Estate Agents and Managers. These five new industries are all significant and can be better represented under the new classification system. On a production orientation basis, each industry is unique.

Two industries were moved from the Real Estate subsector.

1987 SIC 6552, Land Subdividers and Developers, was moved to the Construction sector because the production process for this industry is more closely related to the production process of construction industries.

1987 SIC 6553, Cemetery Subdivision and Developers, was moved to Cemeteries and Crematories in the Other Services sector. Most of this activity is conducted by establishments that operate the cemetery after development; therefore, it is not possible to separate the subdivision and development of cemeteries from their operation. Neither of these two types of operations is closely related to the production activity of real estate establishments.

Lessors of Other Non-Financial Assets

The subsector Lessors of Other Non-Financial Assets comprises establishments primarily engaged in holding non-financial assets other than real estate and equipment and in allowing others to use or reproduce those assets for a fee. The establishments did not themselves produce the assets that they hold and permit others to use.

Examples of the assets involved are trademarks, industrial designs, and artistic works not subject to copyright.

Excluded from this industry are: (a) establishments engaged in the creation, production, reproduction, and/or distribution of artistic and literary works subject to copyright, such as newspapers, periodicals, books, databases, software and multimedia products, film and videos, and musical works—that is, publishing industries, motion picture and video production and distribution industries, record production companies, integrated record companies, music publishers, broadcasters, and independent artists, writers and performers (Information Sector and the Arts, Entertainment, and Recreation Sector); (b) establishments engaged in the leasing of real property, subsector Lessors of Real Estate; and © establishments engaged in the leasing of equipment, NAICS subsector Rental and Leasing Services.

Provision for the activities of lessors of intangible assets and of tangible assets other than real estate and equipment has been inadequate in existing classifications. In the United States, establishments engaged in franchising, licensing trademarks, leasing taxi medallions, etc., have been assigned to 1987 SIC 6794, Patent Owners and Lessors. It is desirable to create a broader industry in which to classify these activities.

Description of Changes to the U.S. System

One new industry, Lessors of Other Non-Financial Assets, has been created from part of 1987 SIC 6792, Oil Royalty Traders, and 1987 SIC 6794, Patent Owners and Lessors.

Personal and Laundry Services

This draft classification provides for the subsector Personal and Laundry Services.

The Personal and Laundry Services subsector includes establishments that provide a range of services to individuals and businesses. The industries are distinguished by their use of specialized human resources and specialized physical facilities. The subsector contains four industry groups.

The industry group Personal Care Services comprises establishments that provide appearance-care services to individual consumers such as barber and beauty services. The industry group contains the industry Hair Care and Esthetic Services that is subdivided into Barber Shops, Beauty Salons, and Nail Salons. The industry Other Personal Care Services is subdivided into Diet and Weight Reducing Centers and Other Personal Care Services.

The industry group Funeral Services comprises establishments that provide funeral services such as preparation of bodies for burial and operation of cemeteries and crematories. The group contains two industries, Funeral Homes and Cemeteries and Crematories.

The industry group Laundry Services comprises establishments that provide a range of laundry, drycleaning, and related services to individual and business customers. The industry group contains the industries Coin-Operated Laundries and Drycleaning; Drycleaning and Laundry Services, except Coin-Operated that is subdivided into the Laundries, Family and Commercial, and Drycleaning Plants; Linen and Uniform Supply that is subdivided into Linen Supply and Industrial Launderers; and Other Laundry Services that is subdivided into Garment Pressing and Agents for Laundries and All Other Laundry Services.

The industry group Miscellaneous Personal Services comprises establishments that provide a wide variety of consumer-related services. The industry group contains the industries Pet Care Services, Except Veterinary Services; Photo Finishing that is subdivided into Photo Finishing Laboratories, except One-Hour and One-Hour Photo Finishing; Parking Lots and Garages; and Other Miscellaneous Personal Services.
