DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

Notice of Availability of the Puerto Rican Broad-Winged Hawk and the Puerto Rican Sharp-Shinned Hawk Technical/Agency Draft Recovery Plan for Review and Comments

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service,
Interior.

ACTION: Notice of document availability.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service announces availability for public review of a technical/agency draft recovery plan for the Puerto Rican broad-winged hawk (Buteo platypterus brunnescens) and the Puerto Rican sharp-shinned hawk (Accipiter striatus venator). Both species are restricted to montane forests along the Cordillera Central, Sierra de Cayey, and Sierra de Luquillo. Both species are currently threatened by: Destruction and modification of forested habitat, timber harvest and management practices in public forests; road construction; increase in numbers of recreational facilities and the disturbance associated with public use; mortality and habitat destruction from hurricanes; the lack of comprehensive management plans for the public forests; possible loss of genetic variation due to low population levels; and the potential for illegal shooting. The Puerto Rican sharp-shinned hawk is also affected by warble fly parasitism. The Service solicits review and comments from the public on this draft plan.

DATES: Comments on the draft recovery plan must be received on or before November 18, 1996 to receive consideration by the Service.

ADDRESSES: Persons wishing to review the draft recovery plan may obtain a copy by contacting Ms. Marelisa Rivera, Boquerón Field Office, P.O. Box 491, Boquerón, Puerto Rico 00622. Comments and materials received are available on request for public inspection, by appointment, during normal business hours at the above address.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Marelisa Rivera, Boquerón Field Office, P.O. Box 491, Boquerón, P.R. 00622. Tel. 809-851-7297.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Restoring an endangered or threatened animal or plant to the point where it is again a secure, self-sustaining member of its ecosystem is a primary goal of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's endangered species program. To help guide the recovery effort, the Service is working to prepare recovery plans for most of the listed species native to the United States. Recovery plans describe actions considered necessary for conservation of the species, establish them, and estimate time and cost for implementing the recovery measures needed.

The Endangered Species Act of 1973 (Act), as amended (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.) requires the development of recovery plans for listed species unless such a plan would not promote the conservation of a particular species. Section 4(f) of the Act, as amended in 1988, requires that public notice and an opportunity for public review and comment be provided during recovery plan development. The Service and other Federal agencies will also take these comments into account in the course of implementing approved recovery plans.

This Technical/Agency Draft is for the Puerto Rican broad-winged hawk and the Puerto Rican sharp-shinned hawk, which are endemic to mountain forests in Puerto Rico. Present distribution of the Puerto Rican broad-winged hawk includes montane habitat of three forests: Rio Abajo Commonwealth Forest, Carite Commonwealth Forest, and the Caribbean National Forest. Extant breeding populations of the Puerto Rican sharp-shinned hawk are known from montane habitat of the Maricao Commonwealth Forest, Toro Negro Commonwealth Forest, Guilarte Commonwealth Forest, Carite Commonwealth Forest, and the Caribbean National Forest. Overall populations of 124 broad-winged hawks and 129 sharp-shinned hawks have been estimated. The Puerto Rican broad-winged hawk is found in the subtropical moist forest, the subtropical wet forest, and the subtropical rain forest life zones. The Puerto Rican sharp-shinned hawk is found in the subtropical low montane wet forest and the subtropical wet forest life zones. Both species are currently threatened by: Destruction and modification of forested habitat, timber harvest and management practices in public forests; road construction; increase in numbers of recreational facilities and the disturbance associated with public use; mortality and habitat destruction from hurricanes; the lack of comprehensive management plans for the public forests; possible loss of genetic variation due to low population levels; and the potential for illegal shooting. The Puerto Rico sharp-shinned hawk is also affected by warble fly parasitism.
