POLICY JUSTIFICATIONPortugal - F-16A/B Aircraft

The Government of Portugal has requested the purchase of 25 used F-16A/B aircraft with engines, five spare F100-PW-220E aircraft engines, preparation and activation of aircraft for ferry to a rework/overhaul facility, the upgrade of the F-16A/B aircraft engine F100-PW-200 to the F100-PW-220E configuration including procurement and installation of retrofit kits, procurement and installation of aircraft and aircraft systems upgrades and modifications, spare and repair parts, support equipment, publications and technical documentation, personnel training and training equipment, U.S. Government and contractor engineering and logistics personnel services and other related elements of program support. The estimated cost is $258 million.

This sale will contribute to the foreign policy and national security objectives of the United States by improving the military capabilities of Portugal while enhancing weapon system standardization and interoperability with the U.S. forces in the region.

This sale will be a follow-on to Portugal's initial procurement of F-16A/B aircraft which have been delivered and are operational in-country. It will enable Portugal to augment its current F-16 aircraft inventory and to develop and maintain a continuous air defense capability within its national boundaries. Portugal will have no difficulty absorbing these additional aircraft into its armed forces.

The sale of these aircraft and support will not affect the basic military balance in the region.

This sale will include used U.S. Air Force aircraft and the rework/overhaul of these aircraft at a facility to be determined. There are no offset agreements proposed to be entered into in connection with this potential sale.

Implementation of this program will require the assignment of U.S. Government personnel and contractor representatives to Portugal to provide technical and logistics services, including flight instruction, after delivery of the first aircraft. The number of personnel and types of skills necessary to support the program will be determined jointly between U.S. and Portuguese representatives upon program implementation.

There will be no adverse impact on U.S. defense readiness as a result of this sale.
