

relationship between the geological formation of natural gas fields and the levels of radioactivity in the water brought to the surface as part of the oil and gas extraction process. If successful, the study would provide natural gas producers with data that would allow them to assess probable levels of radioactivity at a site before drilling, thus reducing the volume of radioactive materials brought to the surface. DOE's Assistant Secretary for Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy had determined that this proposal was inconsistent with the terms of the Stripper Well Settlement Agreement in that its main focus was environmental. Louisiana argued in its Petition that the study was authorized by the Chevron consent order, which allows the use of oil overcharge funds for energy research. The OHA agreed with the initial assessment of Louisiana's proposal and concluded that the project could not qualify as an energy research program under the terms of the Chevron consent order because it was not remedial in nature. Accordingly, Louisiana's Petition for Special Redress was denied.

Notice of Issuance of Decisions and Orders by the Office of Hearings and Appeals; Week of May 22 Through May 26, 1995

During the week of May 22 through May 26, 1995, the decisions and orders summarized below were issued with respect to appeals and applications for other relief filed with the Office of Hearings and Appeals of the Department of Energy. The following summary also contains a list of submissions that were dismissed by the Office of Hearings and Appeals.

Appeal

A. Victorian, 5/22/95, VFA-0036

Dr. A. Victorian (Appellant) filed an Appeal from a final determination by the Acting Director of the Office of Intergovernmental and External Affairs of the Albuquerque Operations Office of the Department of Energy (DOE/AL). DOE/AL withheld certain documents identified as responsive to Appellant's request on the grounds that they contained sensitive and personal information. Although the person named in the documents was deceased, DOE/AL found that the surviving relatives of the named individual had a privacy interest in the information and withheld the documents under Exemption 6. In considering the Appeal, the DOE found that while a privacy interest in the information existed, DOE/AL did not balance this interest against the public interest in disclosing the information. Accordingly, the Appeal was remanded to DOE/AL so that it could balance the privacy interest of surviving relatives against the public interest in disclosure in a manner consistent with this Decision.

Personnel Security Hearings

Albuquerque Operations Office, 5/22/95, VSO-0018

An OHA Hearing Officer issued an Opinion recommending against restoring the access authorization of a DOE contractor employee. The employee's "Q" clearance had been suspended by the Operations Office Manager after a DOE-sponsored psychiatrist found that the employee was a user of alcohol habitually to excess and suffered from "substance abuse, alcohol," a mental condition which causes or may cause a significant defect in judgment or reliability. The evidence in the record indicated that the employee had a lengthy history of arrests and convictions for alcohol-related traffic offenses, including two within the last 18 months. At the hearing, the employee admitted that he had been an alcohol abuser, but introduced evidence of his progress towards rehabilitation during the six month period immediately prior to the hearing. The Hearing Officer concluded that the employee had not as yet abstained from alcohol long enough to demonstrate that he was rehabilitated from his drinking problem, and that as a result, the employee's history of alcohol abuse still raised serious security concerns. For these reasons, the Hearing Officer concluded that the employee had failed to show that restoring the employee's access authorization would not endanger the common defense and security and would be clearly consistent with the national interest.

A DOE Hearing Officer issued an Opinion concerning the eligibility of an individual for continued "Q" access authorization. Tests conducted as part of a routine annual physical examination indicated that the individual had used cocaine. The individual claimed that he had not used cocaine. He argued that this use of certain over-the-counter medications prior to the drug test should have resulted in positive results for drugs other than cocaine, and that the lack of such results proved that the tested specimen was not his. After reviewing the chain-of-custody documentation for the specimen and considering expert testimony on the effects of over-the-counter medications on drug tests, the Hearing Officer found that the tested specimen was the individual's and the individual must have used cocaine. The Hearing Officer, therefore, found that the individual's denials of cocaine use were falsifications and that the individual had violated a drug certification which he had signed. The Hearing Officer concluded that the individual's access authorization should not be restored.
