SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On February 6, 1997, the Department of Commerce (the Department) published the final results of its administrative review of the antidumping duty order on certain internal-combustion industrial forklift trucks from Japan (62 FR 5592) (final results). The review covers three manufacturers/exporters and the period of review (POR) is June 1, 1994, through May 31, 1995.

After publication of our final results, we received timely allegations from NACCO Materials Handling Group, Inc. (petitioners), and respondent, Toyota Motor Corporation (Toyota), that we had made clerical errors in calculating the final results. Based on our analysis of the clerical-error allegations, we have made a change to the final margin calculations for Toyota which resulted in a change to the weighted-average percentage margin for the POR (see Amended Final Results section of this notice).

The Applicable Statute

Unless otherwise indicated, all citations to the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (the Act), are references to the provisions effective January 1, 1995, the effective date of the amendments made to the Tariff Act by the Uruguay Round Agreements Act. In addition, unless otherwise indicated, all citations to the Department's regulations are to the current regulations, as amended by the interim regulations published in the Federal Register on May 11, 1995 (60 FR 25130).

Clerical-Error Allegations and Responses

Toyota

On February 19, 1997, Toyota alleged that the Department improperly added the differences-in-merchandise (difmer) adjustment (home market variable cost of manufacturing minus U.S. variable cost of manufacturing) to normal value (NV) instead of subtracting it from NV.

Department's Response

We agree with Toyota that this was a clerical error. Therefore, we have subtracted the difmer amount from NV for these amended final results.

Petitioners

On February 21, 1997, petitioners alleged that the Department neglected to implement its twenty-percent difmer test in the final-results calculations. Petitioners claim that adding the test to the calculations will prevent sales that fail the test from being used in the margin analysis.

Department's Response

We disagree with petitioners that we made a clerical error in our matching process. For the final results, we performed the twenty-percent difmer test using Toyota's variable cost of manufacture (VCOM) data from the sales and concordance listings. We then used Toyota's cost information, as contained in the cost of production (COP) and constructed value (CV) portions of its response, to calculate the difmer adjustment that we made to NV. We fully addressed this issue in response to petitioners' comment 2 in the final results. Because we made a decision in our final results that applying the difmer test at the concordance stage was appropriate, given the circumstances of the review, we reject petitioners' position that this is a clerical error.

Amended Final Results

As a result of our correction for the clerical error, we determine that the following percentage weighted-average margin exists for the period June 1, 1994, through May 31, 1995:

Company	Rate (percent)
Toyota	47.79

We will direct the Customs Service to collect cash deposits of estimated antidumping duties on all appropriate entries in accordance with the procedures discussed in the final results of the review (62 FR 5592) and as amended by this determination.

The amended deposit requirements are effective for all shipments of the subject merchandise entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption on or after the date of publication of this notice and shall remain in effect until publication of the final results of the next administrative review.

This notice also serves as a final reminder to importers of their responsibility under 19 CFR 353.26 to file a certificate regarding the reimbursement of antidumping duties prior to liquidation of the relevant entries during this review period. Failure to comply with this requirement could result in the Secretary's presumption that reimbursement of antidumping duties occurred and the subsequent assessment of double antidumping duties.

This notice also serves as a reminder to parties subject to administrative
