Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American Human Remains and Associated Funerary Objects From the Pine Creek, IA, in the Possession of the Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science, Davenport, IA

AGENCY: National Park Service

ACTION: Notice

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 25 U.S.C. 3003 (d), of the completion of an inventory of human remains and associated funerary objects in the possession of the Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science, Davenport, IA.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science professional staff in consultation with representatives of the Sac and Fox Tribe of the Mississippi in Iowa and the Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma.

Around 1914, human remains representing one individual were probably recovered during extensive excavations of Pine Creek Mounds, Muscatine County, IA, by Dr. T. Michelson and members of the then Davenport Academy of Natural Science (now the Putnam Museum). No known individuals were identified. The 135 associated funerary objects include one silver gorget fragment, one silver bracelet fragment marked "Montreal", nine silver earbobs, one unidentified iron object bound with twisted fibers, one silver cross fragment, one knife blade or utensil fragment, two pieces of red ochre, 115 glass beads, two gunflints, one wood fragment, and one projectile point.

Morphological evidence indicates this individual is Native American based on tooth formation. Associated funerary objects are consistent with Native burials of the early fur trade era in Eastern Iowa. The associated funerary objects dated the burial to 1760-1825 AD, based on the presence of European trade goods, especially the marked silver bracelet and a polychrome oval bead. Since the late nineteenth century, the Pine Creek Mounds (site 13MC44) have been excavated by representatives of the now Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science. The most recent excavations occurred in 1914, conducted by Dr. T. Michelson of the Bureau of American Ethnology with members of the Davenport Academy of Natural Science. Field notes from the 1914 excavations indicate that some of the mounds appeared to have intrusive burials from the historic period. Due to the primary interest of Dr. Michelson in the precontact burials of this site, this burial was not specifically recorded, however, this individual and associated funerary objects have been curated together in the Pine Creek collections of the Putnam Museum since 1914. Historical documents and ethnographic evidence indicates there were numerous traditional sites, hunting camps, and village settlements of both the Ioway and the Sac and Fox in the Pine Creek area from 1750 to the early 19th century.

Based on the above mentioned information, officials of the Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science have also determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (3)(A), the 135 objects listed above are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony. Lastly, officials of the Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (2), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these Native American human remains and associated funerary objects and the Sac and Fox of the Mississippi in Iowa, the Sac and Fox Nation of Missouri, the Sac and Fox Nation of Oklahoma, and the Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Sac and Fox of the Mississippi in Iowa, the Sac and Fox Nation of Missouri, the Sac and Fox Nation of Oklahoma, and the Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma. Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these human remains and associated funerary objects should contact Chris Lyons, NAGPRA Representative, Putnam Museum of History and Natural Science, 1717 W. 12th St., Davenport, IA 52804; telephone: (319) 324-1934 before April 25, 1997. Repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects to the Iowa Tribe of Oklahoma may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Dated: March 17, 1997.
