DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Office of the Secretary

AGENCY: Employment and Training Administration, Labor.

ACTION: Supplemental information.

On January 14, 1997, the Department of Labor submitted an emergency processing public information collection request (ICR) to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review and clearance under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (Pub. Subject: Workforce Flexibility (Work-Flex) Partnership Demonstration Program

1. Purpose. To announce the request for applications from States for the Workforce Flexibility (Work-Flex) Partnership Demonstration Program.

2. Background. The 1997 Department of Labor's Appropriations Act (Public Law 104-208) authorizes the Workforce Flexibility (Work-Flex) Partnership Demonstration Program. This directive transmits the excerpts from the draft Federal Register Notice describing the process for submittal of applications.

The appropriations legislation provides that the Secretary of Labor may authorize Work-Flex demonstration program for provision of workforce employment and training activities in "* * * not more than six States, of which at least three States shall each have populations not in excess of 3,500,000 * * *". The Work-Flex waiver may be for a period of up to five years. Under this provision, the Secretary would authorize a State "to waive any statutory or regulatory requirement applicable to service delivery areas or substate areas within the State under titles I-III of the Job Training Partnership Act, with certain exceptions and "any of the statutory or regulatory requirements of sections 8-10 of the Wagner-Peyser Act".

The legislation authorizes the granting of the Work-flex waiver to a state pursuant to a plan submitted by the State and approved by the Secretary. Preference is to be given to States that have been designated as Ed-Flex partnership States under section 311(e) of Public Law 103-227. Excerpts from the draft Federal Register Notice which announces this application process is attached.

Unlike the legislative provisions for Ed-Flex, the legislative report language for Work-flex does not permit the Secretary of Labor to consider State waiver requests. Instead, such authority is restricted to the general waivers provisions. To address this deficiency, States may submit both a Work-flex application and a general waiver request at the same time. While there are differences in time coverage and exceptions for the two sets of waiver authorities, a combined request would permit a State to obtain waivers for both the State level and the service delivery area/substate level for a minimum of one year. We are entertaining joint submissions to permit streamlined submission and to facilitate the objectives of the overall waiver authority. If the general waiver authority is continued, then subsequent approvals of State waiver requests could be continued.

3. Process for Submitting Applications. Applications will be accepted by the Department until March 28, 1997. After that date, proposals will
