The Corporation supports a wide variety of initiatives that include the implementation and design of service-learning curricula, professional development and training for faculty in the practice of service-learning, clinical programs using service-learning, student initiated and designed community projects, and community leadership that works in partnership with institutions of higher education. The Corporation invites applications that will engage

1. Strengthening and Building Foundations in Service-Learning Programs. These projects might include such activities as (a) introducing and promoting service-learning in an established discipline; (b) encouraging professional disciplines (e.g., medical, legal) to adopt service-learning as an integral component of the academic curriculum; or (c) providing technical assistance to teacher education institutions to incorporate service-learning into the curriculum of future school teachers.

3. Service-Learning Corps Programs. These projects engage AmeriCorps Members in building the service-learning capacity within communities and institutions of higher education, and in directly addressing community needs.
