

occurring organism normally found in the environment and on crop plants. The low toxicity of the subject active ingredients is demonstrated by the data summarized above. Based on this information, it has been determined that aggregate exposure to Trichodex over a lifetime will not pose appreciable risks to human health and there is a reasonable certainty that no harm will result from Trichodex residues. Since people are exposed to T. harzianum from natural sources, the incremental exposure from its use in pesticide products is expected to be negligible.

2. Infants and children. It has been determined that the toxicity and exposure data are sufficiently complete to adequately address the potential for additional sensitivity of infants and children to residues of Trichodex. It is concluded that there is a reasonable certainty that no harm will result to infants and children from aggregate exposure to Trichodex residues.

G. Existing Tolerances

1. Existing tolerances or tolerance exemptions. A temporary tolerance exemption in conjunction with an Experimental Use Permit for Trichodex is currently in effect. EPA has also promulgated permanent exemptions from the requirement for a tolerance for strains of T. harzianum other than T-39.

2. International tolerances or tolerance exemptions. No maximum residue level has been established for Trichodex by the Codex Alimentarius Commission. Exemptions from the requirement of a tolerance have been granted for Trichodex in all international registrations.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Project Background

EPA's Design for the Environment (DfE) Program began working with the printed wiring board (PWB) industry in 1994, to identify and evaluate environmentally beneficial and cost effective alternatives to PWB manufacturing technologies. The DfE PWB Project is a voluntary, cooperative partnership between EPA, the PWB industry, public-interest groups, and other stakeholders. The goal of this Project is to provide information that will assist the PWB industry in making informed decisions when evaluating and implementing beneficial alternatives to PWB manufacturing technologies.

For purposes of this study, the project evaluated seven alternative technologies for performing the "making holes conductive" (MHC) function during the manufacture of PWBs. The non-conveyorized electroless copper process was considered the baseline process against which alternative technologies and equipment configurations were compared. With this notice, EPA is announcing the availability of the draft document entitled "Printed Wiring Board Cleaner Technologies Substitutes Assessment: Making Holes Conductive." This document marks the culmination of over 2-years of research by the DfE PWB Project and the University of Tennessee Center for Clean Products and Clean Technologies. The data gathered on the comparative risk, performance, cost, and natural resource requirements of the alternatives and baseline technologies are presented in this document.

II. Public Record

The official record for this notice, as well as the public version, has been established for this notice under docket number [OPPTS-00215], and will include any comments and data submitted electronically. FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

Notice of Intent To Cancel Tariffs of Common Carriers by Water and To Suspend Licenses of Ocean Freight Forwarders in the Foreign Commerce of the United States for Failure To File Anti-Rebate Certifications

The Federal Maritime Commission's regulations at 46 CFR 582.1(a), 582.3(a) and 582.3(b) require every common carrier by water and ocean freight forwarder in the foreign commerce of the United States to file an anti-rebate certification by December 31 of each even-numbered calendar year.

Notice is given that the common carriers by water shown in part A of the attached list have not filed the anti-rebate certification which was due on or before December 31, 1996.

Consequently, these firms were notified by certified mail dated and mailed on August 1, 1997, that, if within 45 days of the date of such notice, they have not either filed an anti-rebate certification or established that it has been filed, their tariffs would be cancelled in accordance with 46 CFR 514.1(c)(1)(iii)(C).

Notice is further given that the ocean freight forwarders shown in part B of the attached list have not filed the anti-rebate certification which was due on or before December 31, 1996.

Consequently, these firms were notified by certified mail dated and mailed on August 1, 1997, that, if within 45 days of the date of such notice, they have not either filed an anti-rebate certification or established that it has been filed, their licenses would be suspended in accordance with 46 CFR 510.16(a)(6).
