

Use of Large-Value Funds Transfers for Money Laundering; Rescission of Policy Statement

AGENCY: Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

ACTION: Rescission of policy statement.

SUMMARY: As part of the FDIC's systematic review of its regulations and written policies under section 303(a) of the Riegle Community Development and Regulatory Improvement Act of 1994 (CDRI), the FDIC is rescinding its adoption of the policy statement (Statement) concerning the problem of the use of large-value funds transfers for money laundering. The Statement recommends that banks obtain and maintain certain records with respect to funds transfers sent or received in the normal course of business. The FDIC is rescinding the adoption of the Statement because it was replaced by an amendment to the Bank Secrecy Act regulations.

DATES: This Statement is rescinded on January 31, 1997.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: R. Eugene Seitz, Review Examiner, (202) 898-6793, Division of Supervision; Barbara Katron, Counsel, (202) 736-0564, Legal Division, FDIC, 550 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20429.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FDIC is conducting a systematic review of its regulations and written policies. Section 303(a) of the CDRI (12 U.S.C. 4803(a)) requires each federal banking agency to streamline and modify its regulations and written policies in order to improve efficiency, reduce unnecessary costs, and eliminate unwarranted constraints on credit availability. Section 303(a) also requires each federal banking agency to remove inconsistencies and outmoded and duplicative requirements from its regulations and written policies.

As part of this review, the FDIC has determined that the Statement is outmoded, and that the FDIC's written policies can be streamlined by its elimination.

The Statement was published on March 17, 1993, 58 FR 14400, effective December 8, 1992, by the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC). The Statement recommended that banks obtain and maintain certain records concerning funds transfers originated or received. The FFIEC adopted the Statement upon the recommendation of the Financial Action Task Force (FATF) as a means to assist law enforcement agencies in the identification and documentation of parties to funds transfers. Each federal banking agency subsequently adopted the Statement.

On January 3, 1995, the Department of the Treasury and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System jointly published in the Federal Register an amendment to the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) regulations that requires financial institutions to obtain and maintain records concerning funds transfers originated or received by the institutions. The recordkeeping requirements contained in the amendment to the BSA regulations are the same as those recommended in the Statement. The amendment to the BSA regulations became effective May 28, 1996; the Statement has become duplicative and, therefore, unnecessary.

On September 13, 1996, the FFIEC voted to rescind the Statement.

For the above reasons, the FDIC's adoption of the Statement is hereby rescinded.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 21st day of January, 1997.

By Order of the Board of Directors.
Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Jerry L. Langley,

Executive Secretary.

The Federal Reserve Board obtains the data from a universe of issuers (currently 424 corporations). The survey is conducted monthly, quarterly, or semiannually, depending on the reporter's level and frequency of issuance activity. In addition, once a year, all reporters report the amount of medium-term notes outstanding. The information collected on the report is used to estimate the volume of new securities issuance by U.S. corporations that is published in the Federal Reserve Bulletin and to construct estimates of corporate securities outstanding that are used in the flow of funds accounts.
