DIVERSITY, FREEDOM AND DEMOCRACY GUIDELINES: Pursuant to the Bureau's authorizing legislation, programs must maintain a non-political character and should be balanced and representative of the diversity of American political, social, and cultural life. "Diversity" should be interpreted in the broadest sense and encompass differences including, but not limited to ethnicity, race, gender, religion, geographic location, socio-economic status, and physical challenges. Applicants are strongly encouraged to adhere to the advancement of this principle both in program administration and in program content. Please refer to the review criteria under the "Support for Diversity" section for specific suggestions on incorporating diversity into the total proposal. Public Law 104-319 provides that "in carrying out programs of educational and cultural exchange in countries whose people do not fully enjoy freedom and democracy", USIA "shall take appropriate steps to provide opportunities for participation in such programs to human rights and democracy leaders of such countries." Proposals should account for advancement of this goal in their program contents, to the full extent deemed feasible.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Regional Scholar Exchange Program empowers outstanding citizens of the NIS and the U.S. who are committed to careers in academia to obtain access to the resource materials and specialists of the host country in order to conduct research and consult with colleagues on specific topics in one of twenty-five designated fields of the social sciences and humanities, write scholarly articles, dissertations, and books, audit classes, deliver occasional lectures, and participate in academic conferences with the goal of contributing to the advancement of higher education, scholarship, and university teaching in their academic fields in their home countries. NIS participants will be expected to begin their fellowships in the U.S. as a group at a program orientation in Washington, D.C. in late August 1999 and attend a pre-departure orientation in their home countries in February 1999. However, in some cases where it is necessary, a limited number of NIS participants may begin their U.S. programs at other appropriate times during the academic year. U.S. participants will be expected to begin their fellowships in the NIS at appropriate times in summer and fall 1999 and attend a program orientation in their host countries. At the end of their fellowships, all participants must return immediately to their home countries.

The Freedom Support Act Fellowships in Contemporary Issues empower outstanding citizens of the New Independent States who are practitioners in diverse fields to obtain access to the resource materials and specialists of the U.S. in order to conduct research and policy analysis on specific topics in one of five designated areas, write reports, articles, and studies, deliver lectures, and engage counterparts in the United States with the goal of framing the terms of debate in their fields and playing a more active role in consolidating the transition to democracy, free markets, and civil society in their home countries. Participants will be expected to begin their fellowships in the U.S. as a group at a program orientation in Washington, D.C. in March 1999 and attend a pre-departure orientation in their home countries in February 1999. At the end of their fellowships, all NIS participants must return immediately to their home countries.

Further details about specific program requirements and additional information can be found in the Project Objectives, Goals, and Implementation (POGI) Statement which are part of the full Solicitation Package.

Guidelines

Visa/Health Insurance/Tax Requirements: Programs must comply with J-1 visa regulations. Exchange program regulations require that all J visa holders carry health and accident insurance. Applicant organizations must submit a comprehensive line item budget request for general program costs, participant program costs, and administrative costs based on the specific guidance in the Solicitation Package. There must be a summary budget as well as a break-down reflecting both the administrative budget and the program budget and a budget narrative demonstrating how costs were derived. Organizations whose proposals include an administrative budget that is less than 20% of the grant amount requested from the USIA will be given preference.

- (2) Participant Program Costs
- (3) U.S. Administrative Costs
- (4) NIS Administrative Costs
- (5) Start Up for FY 1999 Recruitment

Please refer to the Solicitation Package for complete budget guidelines and formatting instructions.

Review Process

USIA will acknowledge receipt of all proposals and will review them for technical eligibility. Proposals will be deemed ineligible if they do not fully adhere to the guidelines stated herein and in the Solicitation Package. Eligible proposals will be forwarded to panels of USIA officers for advisory review. All eligible proposals will be reviewed by the program office, as well as the USIA Office of East European and NIS Affairs and the USIA post overseas, where appropriate. Proposals may be reviewed by the Office of the General Counsel or by other Agency elements. Funding decisions are at the discretion of the USIA Associate Director for Educational and Cultural Affairs. Final technical authority for assistance awards (grants or cooperative agreements) resides with the USIA grants officer.

Review Criteria

Technically eligible applications will be competitively reviewed according to the criteria stated below. These criteria are not rank ordered and all carry equal weight in the proposal evaluation.

1. Quality of the program plan: Proposals should include academic rigor, thorough conception of program, demonstration of meeting participants' needs, contributions to understanding the partner country, specific details of recruitment, selection, placement, monitoring, alumni activities, alumni tracking, and relevance to USIA's mission.

2. Program planning and organizational capacity: A detailed work plan citing all critical program components and timeline should demonstrate the organization's logistical and administrative capacity to implement both programs. Proposals must demonstrate how the organization and its staff will meet both programs' objectives. Proposed personnel and organizational resources must be adequate and appropriate to implement the program in each country.

3. Organization's track record:

Relevant USIA and outside assessments of the organization's experience with academic exchanges with the NIS, including responsible fiscal management and full compliance with all reporting requirements for past grants as determined by USIA's Office of Contracts.

4. Multiplier effect/impact: Proposed programs must demonstrate an impact on the wider community through the sharing of information and the establishment of long-term institutional and individual linkages.

5. Cost-effectiveness: A key measure of cost-effectiveness is USIA's cost per participant. This is the total funds requested from USIA divided by the number of participant-months (number of participants multiplied by the number of program months). Overhead and administrative costs, including salaries and honoraria, should be kept as low as possible. All other items should be necessary and appropriate.

6. Cost-sharing: Preference will be given to proposals that seek to maximize cost-sharing through other private sector support as well as institutional direct funding contributions.

7. Value of U.S.-partner country relations: The assessment by USIA's geographic area office of the need potential impact, and significance of the project with the partner country.

8. Support of diversity and pluralism: Proposals should demonstrate substantive support of the Bureau's policy on diversity through the recruitment, selection and placement of participants, to the extent feasible for organizations.

9. Follow-on activities: Proposals should provide a plan for alumni activities and other follow on programs (without USIA support) which ensures that USIA supported programs are not isolated events. Proposals should include a plan for alumni tracking that demonstrates the willingness to provide data to and coordinate tracking with USIA and USIS posts.

10. Program evaluation: Proposals should include a plan to evaluate the program's success. A draft survey questionnaire plus a description of a methodology to be used to link outcomes to original project objectives is required.

Notice

The terms and conditions published in this RFP are binding and may not be modified by any USIA representative. Explanatory information provided by the Agency that contradicts published language will not be binding. Issuance of the RFP does not constitute an award commitment on the part of the Government. The Agency reserves the right to reduce, revise, or increase proposal budgets in accordance with the needs of the program and the availability of funds. Awards made will be subject to periodic reporting and evaluation requirements.

Options for Renewals

Subject to the availability of funding for FY 1999 and FY 2000, and the satisfactory performance of grant programs, USIA may invite grantee organizations to submit proposals for renewal assistance awards for two fiscal year cycles.

Notification

Final awards cannot be made until funds have been appropriated by Congress, allocated and committed through internal USIA procedures.

Dated: December 1, 1997.

Deputy Associate Director for Educational and Cultural Affairs.
