Final Environmental Impact Statement for Saint Croix Island International Historic Site General Management Plan

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Availability for 30 days of Final Environmental Impact Statement (FEIS) for general management plan at Saint Croix Island International Historic Site located in Calais, Washington County, Maine, U.S.A. The National Park Service will take no action concurrent with the availability of the FEIS after which time a Record of Decision will be prepared.

SUMMARY: Pursuant to section 102(2)(c) of the National Environmental Policy

Act of 1969, the National Park Service (NPS) announces the availability of the Final Environmental Impact Statement for actions described in the final draft general management plan for Saint Croix Island International Historic Site. The FEIS is bound with the final draft general management plan and final draft plans for interpretation and land protection that will be implemented when a Record of Decision is finalized.

St. Croix Island is the 1604 site of the first French attempt to colonize the territory called Acadia and the location of one of the earliest European settlements in North America. Saint Croix Island International Historic Site was authorized as a national monument in 1949, dedicated in 1968, and redesignated an international historic site (IHS) in 1984. It is the only IHS in the National Park System. A memorandum of understanding between Canada and the United States recognizes the international significance of the site and commits both nations to joint planning and commemoration.

Four alternatives for the future management of Saint Croix Island IHS were presented and evaluated in the draft general management plan and Draft Environmental Impact Statement. After considering public and agency comment, the NPS modified the preferred alternative to pursue cooperative development of a regional visitor center in downtown Calais with local, state, and other federal agencies. The FEIS considers the consequences of the actions recommended by the Saint Croix Island IHS final draft general management plan on cultural resources; visitor use and experience; natural resources; the socioeconomic environment; and NPS operations and administration.

DATES: The FEIS is available for a period of 30 days, March 20, 1998, through April 20, 1998.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Public reading copies of the FEIS will be available for review at the Department of Interior Natural Resources Library, 1849 C. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20240, and at Acadia National Park Headquarters, Eagle Lake Road, Bar Harbor, Maine, 04609.

Dated: March 9, 1998.

Spruce Creek Access Proposal and Environmental Impact Statement, Denali National Park and Preserve, Alaska

SUMMARY: The National Park Service (NPS) is preparing an environmental impact statement (EIS) to evaluate an application for a right-of-way permit to a private inholding on Spruce Creek in the Kantishna Hills of Denali National Park and Preserve. The application for the right-of-way was submitted by the owner of the inholding pursuant to the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act of 1980 (ANILCA), Title XI, Section 1110(b) and the implementing regulations at 43 CFR Part 36. The application states that the right-of-way would provide access for the inholder to construct and operate a remote backcountry lodge.

On January 7, 1998, the NPS accepted a complete application for access to a 20-acre parcel on Spruce Creek (Spruce 4) for the proposed purposes. The proposed access route would follow a nine-mile, single-track gravel road from mile 88 of the Denali Park Road to the private inholding, and would cross Moose Creek 24 times and Spruce Creek four times. The applicant also requested use of an airstrip near Glen Creek for an alternate method of transportation. ANILCA Title XI, Section 1110(b) provides that the Secretary of the Interior shall give "* * * such rights as may be necessary to assure adequate and feasible access for economic and other purposes to the concerned land by such State or private owner and their successors in interest." Implementing regulations (43 CFR Part 36) define adequate and feasible access as "* * * a route and method of access that is shown to be reasonably necessary and economically practicable but not necessarily the least costly alternative for achieving the use and development by the applicant on the applicant's non-federal land or occupancy interest."

Possible alternatives to the proposed access to be considered in the EIS include: (1) construction of a new road on the north side of Moose Creek and air access via an airstrip near Glen Creek; (2) vehicle access only over a ridge-top route (Skyline Drive) to a point east of Glacier Creek and construction of a new road down a ridge to Spruce Creek; (3) air access only, with construction of a new airstrip near Spruce Creek; and (4) no action.

Primary issues to be addressed by the EIS are visitor access; environmental constraints; potentially adverse impacts on natural, physical, and/or cultural resources; concerns for NPS management and operations; and interrelationships with adjacent area users. The EIS will assess the cumulative effects of a new lodge in the Kantishna Hills with 15-30 double-occupancy cabins.

The EIS is being prepared in accordance with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4331 et seq.) and its implementing regulations at 40 CFR Part 1500.

Interested groups, organizations, individuals and government agencies are invited to comment on the proposal and alternatives. Three public scoping meetings are scheduled as noted below. The draft EIS will be available for public review in the fall of 1998. Public hearings on the draft EIS will be scheduled in the McKinley Park/Healy area, Fairbanks, and Anchorage, Alaska, and Washington, DC.

DATES: Public Scoping Meetings:

1. Tuesday, March 31, 1998, 7 p.m., Golden Lion Hotel, Anchorage, Alaska.
2. Wednesday, April 1, 1998, 7 p.m., Pioneer Room at Alaska Land, Fairbanks, Alaska.
3. Thursday, April 2, 1998, 7 p.m., Tri-Valley Community Center, Healy, Alaska.
