Proposed Projects

*1. Reader Evaluation of ATSDR's Public Health Assessment and Consultation Products—(0923-0016)—Extension—*ATSDR is seeking qualitative and quantitative information from its readers on how effectively it communicates its public health findings through its products and to find out what groups read and comment on ATSDR documents. ATSDR will use the information to identify the strengths and weaknesses of its reports from the reader's perspective, provide feedback to our designated reviewers, health assessors and managers, implement quality improvements in readability, risk communication, and the logical development of the science and findings in our public health products, and determine how to best serve each reading group.

Based on review and evaluation of the comments received to date through this process, a few changes are being proposed on the survey instrument to improve several of the questions to make them clearer and more understandable. In addition to follow up with public libraries and repositories, included in the current OMB approval, other follow up mechanisms will be added. Another aspect is also being proposed for this request, a follow up to stimulate user participation in this evaluation. Based on responses from January 1995 to December 1997, an average of about 55 forms are distributed for each site (or document) and about 2 persons respond per site (or per document). Based on the number actually distributed (10,968) and received (398), the response rate has only been about 3.6%. By actively following up on a sample of 200 distributed surveys and documents, we hope to increase the response rate to about 75%. Other than their brief time to participate, there are no costs involved for the responder to participate.

A one-page, two-sided survey is provided with each public health document to persons who have requested to be on a mailing list to receive a copy. Federal Depository Libraries are also used to provide these documents and survey instruments. The persons receiving a document either reside near the hazardous release area or site or have been involved with the site or release in some way; they may include concerned community members, public employees, health care professionals, or some other group. The recipient is asked to complete and return the survey, which has a business reply label that is postage pre-paid. This is a request for a three-year extension. There is no cost to respondents.

Respondents	No. of respondents	No. of responses/respondent	Avg. burden/response (in hrs.)	Total burden (in hrs.)
Reader of public health document	130	1	0.25	33
Librarian follow-up	180	1	0.12	22
Reader follow-up	200	1	0.25	50
Nonresponder follow-up	100	1	0.25	25
Total	130

*2. Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program Quarterly Report (0920-0282)—Extension—*The National Center for Environmental Health requests an extension of the Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program Quarterly Report. Section 317A of the Public Health Service Act as amended by The Lead Contamination Control Act of 1988 and the Preventive Health Amendments of 1992, mandates that grant applicants report quarterly the number of infants and children screened for elevated blood lead levels, the number found to have elevated blood lead levels, the number and type of medical referrals made for them, and the outcome of such referrals. State and local health agencies are the principal delivery points for childhood lead screening and related medical and environmental management activities. In FY 1998, CDC awarded 41 grants to fund childhood lead poisoning
