

prison, proposals may include one or a combination of targets, including visitors, vendors, volunteers, staff and inmates working in outside contact areas. Outcomes may be measured based on changes in pre- and post-inmate drug testing results, along with other measurements, such as reduced inmate on staff and inmate on inmate assaults. NIC is seeking a geographic and programmatic diversity which allows for duplication of results, befitting a demonstration project of this nature. NIC is also seeking projects that can be replicated in different jurisdictions if proven successful, as well as projects that show a specific added value to current policies and procedures. In this regard, linkages to other programs (e.g., between detection and treatment) will be an important part of a successful project.

Ocean Beauty, Astoria, Oregon; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration

By application dated May 27, 1998, the company and the United Food and Commercial Workers Local 555 requested administrative reconsideration of the Department's negative determination regarding eligibility to apply for Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) and NAFTA-Transitional Adjustment Assistance (NAFTA-TAA), applicable to workers and former workers of the subject firm. The denial notices applicable to workers of the subject firm located in Astoria, Oregon, were signed on May 12, 1998. The TAA and NAFTA-TAA decisions were published in the Federal Register on June 22, 1998 (63 FR 33958) and May 29, 1998 (63 FR 29431), respectively.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.18(c) reconsideration may be granted under the following circumstances:

(1) If it appears on the basis of facts not previously considered that the determination complained of was erroneous;

(2) If it appears that the determination complained of was based on a mistake in the determination of facts not previously considered; or

(3) If in the opinion of the Certifying Officer, a misinterpretation of facts or of the law justified reconsideration of the decision.

The TAT petition, filed on behalf of workers of Ocean Beauty, Astoria, Oregon, producing processed fish was denied because the “contributed importantly” group eligibility requirement of Section 222(3) of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, was not met. The “contributed importantly” test is generally demonstrated through a survey of the workers’ firm’s customers. None of the Ocean Beauty customers responding to the survey reported purchases of imported processed fish during the relevant time period (1997–1998).

The NAFTA-TAA petition for the same worker group was denied because criteria (3) and (4) of the group eligibility requirements in paragraph (a)(1) of Section 250 of the Trade Act, as amended, were not met. There were no company or customer imports of processed fish from Mexico or Canada, nor was there a shift in production from the workers’ firm to Mexico or Canada.

In support of their application for reconsideration, the petitioners assert that some of the significant customers of Ocean Beauty were not surveyed concerning their import purchases of raw fish. An official of Ocean Beauty was contacted to respond to this allegation. Ocean Beauty has confirmed that customers identified by the petitioners were major customers, but they did not decrease their purchases of processed fish from Ocean Beauty during the relevant time period.

The petitioners provided U.S. Department of Agriculture import data for various fish to support their claim that increased imports of like products were significant enough to facilitate a reduction in market value of the finished product causing production expenses to exceed sales receipts. The Department, however, must examine the import purchases of processed fish by customers of the subject firm.

Conclusion

After review of the application and investigative findings, I conclude that there has been no error or misinterpretation of the law or of the facts which would justify reconsideration of the Department of Labor's prior decisions. Accordingly, the application is denied.

Signed at Washington, DC, this 8th day of July, 1998.
