National Institute of Corrections

Solicitation for a Cooperative Agreement

SUMMARY: The Department of Justice (DOJ), National Institute of Corrections (NIC) in collaboration with the Office of Justice Programs (OJP), Corrections Program Office (CPO), announces the availability of funds in FY 1999 for a cooperative agreement to fund the "Washington State/Local Planning for Correctional Population Management" project.

A cooperative agreement is a form of assistance relationship where the National Institute of Corrections is substantially involved during the performance of the award. An award is made to an organization that will, in concert with the Institute, provide technical assistance to the jurisdictions in Washington State involved in the planning effort. No funds are transferred to state or local governments.

The Institute's Prisons Division will provide financial assistance in the form of a cooperative agreement to facilitate the policy development by state and local teams which include key decision makers and administrators like sheriffs, police chiefs, administrators in the Department of Corrections and jails, and well as the legislature. This collaboration with federal, state and local participation will address the effective allocation of resources for managing offenders in prisons, jails and community option programs to increase the availability of secure prison beds for the persistent/violent offender.

Background

Request for Funding and Technical Assistance

The request for funding and technical assistance was submitted jointly by the Washington State Department of Corrections and the Washington Association of Sheriffs & Police Chiefs. It proposed utilizing collaborative efforts to develop more effective supervision and housing of violent offenders.

This project is being addressed through a partnership between local and state correctional agencies to evaluate the risks and needs of the offenders under correctional control of the State of Washington utilizing validated risk instruments by both jail and prison facilities so that policy decision-makers can be informed of the use of public resources. The proposal includes the development of a data information infrastructure that can integrate both county and state corrections information on offender risks that would result in a statewide profile of offenders, facilities and programs.

This collaborative approach could become a model for other states and jurisdictions. It involves a number of agencies at the federal, state and local levels.

The funding will address:

- Risk assessment in support of managing bed space for violent/persistent offenders;
- Community-based intermediate sanctions for non-violent offenders at the local and state level of government (county and state corrections); and
- Development of an information infrastructure to support these activities.

Desired Outcomes

- Statewide implementation of an objective jail classification system;
- Future housing needs based on risk/risk impact formulas/cost per offender;
- Future correctional option needs based on risk projections;
- Future data network/software needs;
- Fiscal analysis of future legislative requests or legislative proposals with bed impact analysis information; and
- Statewide capacity guidelines.

Components of the Project

- Offender risk/needs assessment
- Capacity/facility/correctional options assessments
- Information system evaluation and recommendations
- Projection of future housing needs and legislative impacts.
