consisting of the submission of an FPAS and use of multi-lingual labeling, and varies slightly according to the registration status of the product, is estimated to average about 6.2 hours per response for registered products (1.081 hours for the FPAS+5.083 hours for multi-lingual labeling), and about 6.7 hours per response for unregistered products (1.081 hours for the FPAS+5.583 hours for multi-lingual labeling). The annual respondent cost for this information collection is estimated to average about $492.49 per response for registered products ($74.33 for the FPAS+$418.16 for multi-lingual labeling), and about $553.99 per response for unregistered products ($74.33 for the FPAS+$479.66 for multilingual labeling). Under the PRA, "burden" means the total time, effort, or financial resources expended by persons to generate, maintain, retain, or disclose or provide information to or for a Federal agency. For this collection it includes the time for reviewing instructions, gathering and maintaining the data needed, and completing and reviewing the collection of information. No person is required to respond to a collection of information subject to approval under the PRA, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB control numbers for EPA regulations, after initially appearing in the Final Rule, are displayed in 40 CFR part 9, and on any applicable information collection instrument.

The following is a brief summary of the estimates presented in this ICR: Respondents/Affected Entities:

Exporters of pesticide products.

Estimated total number of potential Respondents: 2,500.

Frequency of Response: As determined by the exporter.

Estimated total annual burden hours: 21,451.3.

Estimated total annual burden costs: $1,746,536.

Changes in Burden Estimates: The change in respondent burden is due to three factors: (1) EPA has revised the burden estimate for the purchaser acknowledgment requirement to reflect the numbers of FPASs submitted to EPA under the revised policy; (2) EPA has also adjusted the estimated burden imposed by the multi-lingual export labeling requirement, which requires exporters to translate the approved label provided by EPA, and (3) the estimated costs have increased significantly due to the use of the labor rates recently supplied by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. However, no changes have been made to the requirements for foreign purchaser acknowledgments.

Next Step in the process for this ICR: After providing a 30 day opportunity for additional comments from the public, OMB will review and take action on the Agency's request. If this ICR involves the renewal of a currently approved collection activity for which the renewal request was submitted to OMB before the current approval expires, then the current approval will be extended month-to-month until OMB takes an action on the pending request (see 5 CFR 1320.10(e)(2) and 1320.12(b)(2)). Periodically, EPA publishes a notice in the Federal Register listing recent OMB actions on the Agency's ICR submittals. If you have any questions about this ICR or the approval process, please contact the person listed in the FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT section.

Exposure Factors Handbook

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Notice of availability of final document and CD–ROM.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announces the availability of a final document, Exposure Factors Handbook, Volumes I-III (EPA/600/P-95/002Fa, EPA/600/P-95/002Fb, and EPA/600/P-95/002Fc; August 1997) and Exposure Factors Handbook CD-ROM (EPA/600/C-99/ 001, February 1999), prepared by the National Center for Environmental Assessment-Washington (NCEA-W), within the Office of Research and Development of the EPA. The purpose of the document and CD-ROM is to provide a summary of the available statistical data on various factors used in assessing human exposure. This Handbook will serve as a resource for exposure assessors inside the Agency as well as outside, who need to obtain data on standard factors to calculate human exposure to toxic chemicals. These factors include: Drinking water consumption; soil ingestion; inhalation rates; dermal factors including skin area and soil adherence factors; consumption of fruits and vegetables, fish, meats, dairy products, and home-grown foods; breast milk intake; human activity factors; consumer product use; and residential characteristics. Recommended values are for the general population and also for various segments of the population who may have characteristics different from the general population. NCEA has strived to include full discussions of the issues that assessors should consider in deciding how to use these data and recommendations. The CD-ROM contains an interactive version of the Exposure Factors Handbook. The CD-ROM has word search capabilities, down-loadable tables, hypertext links to various chapters in the document, and key references.

ADDRESSES: The document is being made available electronically from the NCEA web site at http://www.epa.gov/ncea/exposfac.htm.
