SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service started the process of developing a Habitat Stewardship Program for the Texas Chenier Plain ecosystem in southeast Texas in 1994. This Program included potential expansion through land acquisition of the Texas Chenier Plain NWR Complex. This Refuge Complex encompasses the Anahuac, McFaddin, Moody and Texas Point National Wildlife Refuges. Open houses and public meetings were held in 1994 and 1996.

Persons and organizations involved in the scoping process for the Habitat Stewardship Program included: the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Natural Resource Conservation Service; U.S. Department of the Interior, National Marine Fisheries Service, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department; Texas General Land Office; U.S. Army, Corps of Engineers; members of national, state and local conservation organizations; grazing permittees; inholders and neighboring landowners; and other interested citizens. Comments and concerns received have been used to identify issues for the upcoming Comprehensive Conservation Plan and EIS.

Major issues to be addressed in the Comprehensive Conservation Plan and associated EIS include management of the Refuge Complex and potential expansion of the Complex' refuges through land acquisition. Specific refuge management issues include management of public recreational uses such as hunting, fishing and wildlife observation, and habitat management strategies (grazing, cooperative rice farming, prescribed burning, water management) for wetland, grassland and woodland habitats. The plan will include the following topics: (a) An assessment of existing biological, physical, and cultural resources, and their condition; (b) identification of the long term goals and objectives of the refuge, consistent with the National Wildlife Refuge System mission; (c) strategies for habitat management, including actions for wetlands, grasslands and woodlands; (d) strategies for management of public access and uses, including hunting, fishing, wildlife observation and photography, environmental education and interpretation; (e) strategies for land acquisition or cooperative agreements with adjacent land owners to further the conservation goals of the plan.

Public open houses to allow opportunities for direct public input on the scope of the document will be held at a time and place to be determined. For information concerning these open houses, please contact Louis J. Bridges, at the address provided above.

All comments received from individuals on Environmental Assessments and Environmental Impact Statements become part of the official public record. Requests for such comments will be handled in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act, the Council on Environmental Quality's NEPA regulations [40 CFR 1506.6(f)], and other Service and Departmental policy and procedures. When requested, the Service generally will provide comment letters with the names and addresses of the individuals who wrote the comments. However, the telephone number of the commenting individual will not be provided in response to such requests to the extent permissible by law. Additionally, public comment letters are not required to contain the commentator's name, address, or other identifying information. Such comments may be submitted anonymously to the Service.

The environmental review of this project will be conducted in accordance with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), NEPA Regulations (40 CFR 1500-1508), other appropriate Federal laws and regulations, the National Wildlife Refuge System Improvement Act of 1997, and Service policies and procedures for compliance with those regulations.

We estimate that the draft CCP/ Environmental Impact Statement will be available in November, 2001.

Dated: October 7, 1999.
