BILLING CODE 6712-01-P

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATIONOffice of the Secretary*49 CFR Part 1

[Docket No. OST-2000-7761]

Organization and Delegation of Powers and Duties; Delegations Concerning the Hazardous Materials Transportation Programs

AGENCY: Office of the Secretary, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of the Secretary of Transportation (OST) is updating the delegations of authority from the Secretary to five Operating Administrations and the Associate Deputy Secretary and Director, Office of Intermodalism, in response to the Secretary's determination that hazardous materials safety would be enhanced by placing the focal point for intermodal and cross-modal DOT hazardous materials program issues with the Associate Deputy Secretary. This document revises the current delegations concerning hazardous materials to reflect the primacy of the Associate Deputy Secretary for cross-modal DOT hazardous materials program issues. Further, this rule broadens each Operating Administration's delegations to allow them to use their respective resources for DOT-wide purposes. Additionally, the rule provides the Director of the Bureau of Transportation Statistics with the authority, in coordination with the Associate Deputy Secretary, to work with the Operating Administrations to determine data needs, collections strategies, and analytical techniques appropriate for implementing DOT's hazardous materials program.

EFFECTIVE DATE: August 15, 2000.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:A. DOT's Hazardous Materials Program Evaluation

The Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (GPRA) (Public Law 103-62; 107 Stat. 285) requires agencies to develop a schedule of program evaluations for inclusion in their strategic plans. In support of GPRA, the Department of Transportation (DOT) committed, in its 1997-2002 strategic plan, to conduct a review of its hazardous materials transportation programs. The objectives of the hazardous materials program evaluation (HMPE) were to (1) document current hazardous materials movements, Operating Administration programs, and program delivery; (2) assess the effectiveness of DOT's overall hazardous materials program as it affects each step in the hazardous materials transportation process; and (3) identify areas for further analysis or other actions.

During 1999, a team of DOT employees from the Office of Inspector General, U.S. Coast Guard, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration, Federal Railroad Administration, and Research and Special Programs Administration conducted the HMPE. They participated in multi-modal and individual modal administration inspections, visited package-testing facilities, observed shipper-check activities, and addressed safety conferences. To learn from DOT's stakeholders—those interested in the safe transportation of hazardous materials—the HMPE team hosted three public focus group meetings. Representatives of shippers, carriers, packaging manufacturers, hazardous materials employees, enforcement personnel, emergency responders, trade associations, and organized labor participated in the meetings.

The HMPE team's findings are set out in its March 2000 final report to the Secretary. In summary, the HMPE team made the following five findings. First, the Secretarial delegations do not provide for DOT-wide coordination or oversight of the five DOT Operating Administrations responsible for ensuring hazardous materials safety. Second, shippers of hazardous materials are a common element across the Operating Administrations, perform critical functions early in the transportation stream, and can impact safety system wide. However, shippers generally receive less attention DOT-wide than carriers. Third, human error continues to be the single greatest contributing factor in hazardous materials incidents and DOT has not been effective in changing this trend. In addition, the traveling public is largely unaware of the dangers posed by hazardous materials they may carry with them in checked or carry-on baggage. Also, the traveling public is unaware of the threat to hazardous materials transportation safety posed by passenger vehicles engaged in unsafe driving practices on the nation's highways. Fourth, DOT lacks reliable, accurate, and timely data to measure program effectiveness and make informed program delivery and resource decisions. Fifth, there are numerous cross-modal issues (issues that are relevant to more than one operating administration) and intermodal issues (issues that affect more than one mode of transportation) that require further analysis and other actions, for example, undeclared hazardous materials shipments, the complexity and adequacy of the current hazardous materials regulations, safety gaps related to hazardous materials in the U.S. mail, enhanced inspection authority, and ways to improve DOT's current performance measure.

Based on its findings, the HMPE team concluded that while DOT's hazardous materials program works reasonably well, DOT could enhance hazardous materials transportation safety by: (1) Establishing a central focal point to administer and deliver a DOT-wide hazardous materials program aimed at intermodal and cross-modal issues to provide for more effective deployment of resources; (2) developing DOT-wide strategies and actions to focus more on high-risk or problem shippers through targeted outreach activities, technical assistance, and inspections; (3)
