

children's exposure via home lawns and other turf, bensulide fits into its own risk cup. With other mitigation measures, bensulide's worker and ecological risks also will be below levels of concern for reregistration.

EPA has assessed the dietary risks of cadusafos and chlorethoxyfos and prepared for each of these organophosphate pesticides a "Report on FQPA Tolerance Reassessment Progress and Interim Risk Management Decision." Cadusafos and chlorethoxyfos fit into their own risk cups and their individual risks are within acceptable levels. Cadusafos has no U.S. registrations and only one import tolerance on bananas. Cadusafos-treated bananas do not pose risk concerns, and no risk mitigation is necessary at this time. Chlorethoxyfos was initially registered after 1984, therefore it is not subject to reregistration. The use of chlorethoxyfos on corn does not pose risk concerns and risk mitigation is not necessary at this time.

The interim risk management decision documents on bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos were made through the organophosphate pilot public participation process, which increases transparency and maximizes stakeholder involvement in EPA's development of risk assessments and risk management decisions. The pilot public participation process was developed as part of the EPA-USDA Tolerance Reassessment Advisory Committee (TRAC), which was established in April 1998, as a subcommittee under the auspices of EPA's National Advisory Council for Environmental Policy and Technology. A goal of the pilot public participation process is to find a more effective way for the public to participate at critical junctures in the Agency's development of organophosphate pesticide risk assessments and risk management decisions. EPA and USDA began implementing this pilot process in August 1998, to increase transparency and opportunities for stakeholder consultation.

EPA worked extensively with affected parties to reach the decisions presented in the interim risk management decision documents, which concludes the pilot public participation process for bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos. As part of the pilot public participation process, numerous opportunities for public comment were offered as these interim risk management decisions were being developed. The bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos interim risk management decision documents therefore are issued in final, without a formal public comment period. The docket remains open, however, and any comments submitted in the future will be placed in the public docket.

The risk assessments for bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos were released to the public through notices in the Federal Register on June 16, 1999, 64 FR 32229 (FRL-6087-9) and August 12, 1998, 63 FR 43175 (FRL-6024-3) for bensulide; September 9, 1998, 63 FR 48213 (FRL-6030-2) and July 7, 1999, 64 FR 36683 (FRL-6091-2) for cadusafos; and January 15, 1999, 64 FR 2644 (FRL-6056-9) and August 18, 1999 64 FR 44921 (FRL-6095-3) for chlorethoxyfos.

EPA's next step under the FQPA is to complete a cumulative risk assessment and risk management decision encompassing all the organophosphate pesticides, which share a common mechanism of toxicity. The interim risk management decision documents on bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos cannot be considered final until this cumulative assessment is complete. Further risk mitigation may be required at that time.

To effect risk mitigation as quickly as possible, time frames for making the changes required by the interim risk management decision documents are shorter than those in a usual Reregistration Eligibility Decision. The Agency is requiring that all labels must be amended to include the above mitigation and submitted to the Agency within 90 days after issuance of the interim risk management decision documents. When the cumulative risk assessment for all organophosphate pesticides has been completed, EPA will issue its final tolerance reassessment decision for bensulide, cadusafos, and chlorethoxyfos and may require further risk mitigation measures.

III. What is the Agency's Authority for Taking this Action?

Section 6(f)(1) of FIFRA provides that a registrant of a pesticide product may at any time request that any of its pesticide registrations be amended to delete one or more uses. The Act further provides that, before acting on the request, EPA must publish a notice of receipt of any such request in the Federal Register. Thereafter, the Administrator may approve such a request.

IV. Procedures for Withdrawal of Request

Registrants who choose to withdraw a request for cancellation must submit such withdrawal in writing to James A. Hollins, at the address given above, postmarked before March 5, 2001, unless indicated otherwise. This written withdrawal of the request for cancellation will apply only to the applicable 6(f)(1) request listed in this notice. If the product(s) have been subject to a previous cancellation action, the effective date of cancellation and all other provisions of any earlier cancellation action are controlling. The withdrawal request must also include a commitment to pay any reregistration fees due, and to fulfill any applicable unsatisfied data requirements.

V. Provisions for Disposition of Existing Stocks

The effective date of cancellation will be the date of the cancellation order. The orders effecting these requested cancellations will generally permit a registrant to sell or distribute existing stocks for 1 year after the date the cancellation request was received by the Agency. This policy is in accordance with the Agency's statement of policy as prescribed in Federal Register (56 FR 29362) June 26, 1991; [FRL 3846-4]. Exception to this general rule will be made if a product poses a risk concern, or is in noncompliance with reregistration requirements, or is subject to a data call-in. In all cases, product-specific disposition dates will be given in the cancellation orders.

Existing stocks are those stocks of registered pesticide products which are currently in the United States and which have been packaged, labeled, and released for shipment prior to the effective date of the cancellation action. Unless the provisions of an earlier order apply, existing stocks already in the hands of dealers or users can be distributed, sold or used legally until they are exhausted, provided that such further sale and use comply with the EPA-approved label and labeling of the affected product(s). Exceptions to these general rules will be made in specific cases when more stringent restrictions on sale, distribution, or use of the products or their ingredients have already been imposed, as in Special Review actions, or where the Agency has identified significant potential risk concerns associated with a particular chemical.
