

At this time we are inviting comment on this preliminary list. Comments received will provide the Agency with a foundation from which to collectively consider on-going priority work and emerging areas as we develop a limited number of recommended FY 2002/2003 priorities. When submitting responses to this Notice, commentors should rank which of the areas listed above should be a top concern for national focus, as well as suggesting others not included on the current list. If additional problem areas are identified, the commentor should provide supporting information relating to the previously listed criteria. Again, suggested priority areas which are not chosen may be candidates for individual Regional or State attention and/or continued investigation. For example, information obtained from this Notice will be helpful to the Agency as it follows up on the recommendations from the Innovation Task Force report (this task force was established by the National Partnership for Reinventing Government) to consider the exclusive or partial use of compliance assistance as a tool for addressing environmental risk and/or patterns of noncompliance.

B. Projected Process Time Frames

After receiving stakeholder responses to this FR priority notice, EPA will complete analysis of proposed priorities and discuss the candidates at a November 2000 enforcement and compliance assurance priorities meeting. Recommendations from this meeting will be forwarded to EPA senior management for discussion. In January 2001, EPA will issue the draft Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance FY 2002/2003 Memorandum of Agreement Guidance to Regions, States and stakeholders for final review. This draft guidance will include the proposed Agency enforcement and compliance assurance national priorities. The final MOA guidance including final priorities will be issued in April 2001.

C. Review Information

Results-Based Approaches to Corrective Action—This guidance will take the form of an overview and supporting documents. The “Overview” and “Tailored Oversight” sections are now available for public review. The “Results-Based Approaches to Corrective Action: Overview” defines results-based corrective action and lists some of the approaches recommended to help stakeholders achieve program goals. These approaches include tailored oversight, procedural flexibility, holistic approach, presumptive remedies, performance standards, use of innovative technologies, targeted data collection, and facility-lead corrective action. The first available supporting document, "Results-Based Approaches to Corrective Action: Tailored Oversight," focuses on implementing tailored oversight. It provides a recommended framework for project managers and owner/operators to develop an oversight plan tailored to facility-specific conditions. In the future, EPA plans to issue additional supporting documents that deal with other results-based approaches.

The official record for this notice will be kept in paper form. Accordingly, we will transfer all feedback and input received electronically into paper form and place them in the official record, which will also include all comments submitted directly in writing. The official record is the paper record maintained at the RCRA Information Center.

All input will be thoroughly and seriously considered by EPA. EPA will not immediately reply to commenters electronically other than to seek clarification of electronic comments that may be garbled in transmission or during conversion to paper form, as discussed above.
