Government's real property assets, as reported to the General Services Administration's (GSA's) Federal Real Property Profile Internet Application (FRPP–IA) reporting system. The report provides an overview of Federal real property assets categorized in three major areas—buildings, land, and structures. Descriptions of specific use classifications are located in the Appendix of the report.

b. The detailed information for this summary report is held in a password-protected Web-based database. This database allows agency representatives to update data on-line in real time, and to produce ad hoc reports. The FRPP–IA reporting system provides information regarding Federal real property holdings to stakeholders including OMB, the Congress, the Federal community, and the public. Its purpose is to assist Federal asset managers with their stewardship responsibilities by offering a real-time environment for on-line updates.

c. To ensure accuracy, GSA requested that agencies confirm their FY 2003 data summary figures prior to publication of the FRPP Summary Report. Most agencies provided data based on their real property holdings as of September 30 of each year. In a few instances, data provided in previous years has been used where updated information was unavailable. This is noted on the list of contributing agencies. The agency list and status of updates and confirmations is provided as part of the FRPP Summary Report.

3. How can we obtain a copy of the FRPP summary report? You will find the FY 2003 version of the FRPP Summary Report on the GSA Web site at http://www.gsa.gov/ realpropertyprofile. There you will be able to read, print, or download this report. You can also obtain a copy from the Real Property Policy Division (MPR), General Services Administration, 1800 F Street, NW., Washington, DC 20405.

4. Who should we contact for further information regarding the FRPP? For further information, contact Stanley C. Langfeld, Director, Real Property Policy Division, Office of Governmentwide Policy, General Services Administration, by phone (202) 501–1737, or by e-mail at stanley.langfeld@gsa.gov.

BILLING CODE 6820–RH–P

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

Office of the Secretary

Funding Opportunity Title: Conference Support Grant Program for Family Planning Public Education and Information Activities

Announcement Type: Competitive Grant—Initial.
CFDA Number: 93.217.
DATES: To receive consideration, applications must be received by the Office of Public Health and Science (OPHS) Office of Grants Management no later than July 6, 2004.
SUMMARY: The Office of Family Planning (OFP), Office of Population Affairs (OPA), announces the availability of fiscal year (FY) 2004 funds for a grant program for family planning public education and information conference support. Three to five grants will be awarded to provide partial support for non-Federal conference activities in topic areas relevant to the delivery of family planning services. Successful applicants will conduct public education and information activities (as part of a larger conference) that will enhance and support the mission of the Title X family planning program.

I. Funding Opportunity Description

This announcement seeks proposals from public and private non-profit entities for the purpose of providing partial support for specific non-Federal one-time conference program activities in the area of family planning and related preventive health. A conference is a symposium, seminar, workshop, or any other organized and formal meeting lasting one day or more, where persons assemble to exchange information and views, explore, or clarify a defined subject, problem, or area of knowledge, whether or not a published report results from such meeting. The OFP will not consider applications which seek funding for a series of conferences. The funding conference program activity or activities should support OFP principles in furtherance of the family planning program mission.

Title X of the Public Health Service Act, 42 U.S.C. 300, et seq., authorizes grants for projects to provide family planning services to persons from low-income families and others. Section 1001 of the Act, as amended, authorizes grants ''to assist in the establishment and operation of voluntary family planning projects which shall offer a broad range of acceptable and effective family planning methods and services (including natural family planning methods, infertility services, and services for adolescents).'' Section 1005 of the Act, as amended, authorizes the Secretary to make grants to public or nonprofit private entities ''to assist in developing and making available family planning and population growth information (including educational materials) to all persons desiring such information (or materials).''

Conference support by the OFP creates the appearance of OFP co-sponsorship. Therefore, there will be active participation by OFP in the development and approval of the conference agenda. OFP funds will be expended only for approved portions of the funded conference program activity.

OFP provides grant support to public and private non-profit agencies to support the delivery of family planning and related preventive health services to those in need of such services. In addition, OFP supports public information and education activities, as well as applied research in order to support effective, evidence-based public health strategies and practices by its service grantees. Through the support of conferences and meetings, including symposia, seminars and workshops (not as part of series) in the area of family planning research, education, program development and prevention application, OFP is meeting its overall training goals. OFP believes that conferences and similar meetings permit individuals who are engaged in family planning service delivery, related research, and policy to interact. This is critical for the development and implementation of effective family planning programs.

Conference Support Topics of Interest

Applications for conference support activities must address topic areas that are consistent with the goals and mission of the Title X family planning program and should reflect HHS' Departmental Priorities. Examples of possible topics include (but are not limited to) the following:

• Program coordination with adolescent abstinence education programs and/or approaches for effective integration of adolescent abstinence education and counseling services in the family planning clinic setting;

• Models for implementation of the ''ABC'' approach to HIV/AIDS prevention, education and counseling in family planning settings. That is, for adolescents and unmarried individuals, the message is ''A'' for abstinence; for married or individuals in committed relationships, the message is ''B'' for being faithful; and, for individuals who engage in behavior that puts them at risk for HIV, the message is "C" for condom use;

• Couples-based service delivery and counseling, including services to improve communication for effective and consistent family planning method use;

• Linkages with other public health delivery systems—integration of family planning with primary care in community health centers, alcohol and substance abuse prevention and treatment programs, family and intimate family violence prevention, community-based abstinence education services, HIV and STD prevention and treatment services, or training on infant adoption counseling;

• Parental involvement in the delivery of services to adolescents, including approaches to counseling that involve families in assisting adolescent decision-making and in avoiding coercive sexual relationships;

• Use of electronic technologies to improve or support family planning program activities and management;

• Use of evidence-based information, including findings from recent research, to improve or support the delivery of family planning services;

• Best practice approaches to specific issues relevant to the delivery of family planning clinical services and related preventive health care, e.g., cervical cancer screening and patient management, or the delivery of reproductive health services to HIV positive individuals;

• The development and implementation of quality assurance and performance measurement systems in family planning programs;

• Training, counseling or other program approaches to ensure compliance with state reporting laws regarding child abuse, child molestation, sexual abuse, rape or incest; and

• Population specific issues in the delivery of family planning services— women's reproductive health, men's reproductive health, contraceptive updates, hard-to-serve populations, sexually active adolescents, or populations with Limited English Proficiency.

Conference Requirements

Grantees must meet the following requirements:

1. The conference organizer(s) may use OFP's name only in factual publicity for the conference. All but 10 percent of the total funds awarded for the proposed conference will be initially restricted pending OFP approval of a full, final agenda. The remaining 90 percent of funds will be released by letter to the grantee upon approval of the final agenda. OFP reserves the right to terminate co-sponsorship at any time.
