SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

An influenza pandemic represents a major threat to health and may cause substantial social and economic disruption. Planning and implementing preparedness activities are critical to improving the effectiveness of a response and decreasing the impacts of a pandemic. The draft Pandemic Influenza Preparedness and Response Plan was developed to define national preparedness and response activities, and to guide planning activities that are underway at the State and local levels in both the public and private sectors. The plan is designed to be consistent with other health emergency preparedness and response plans while also recognizing the unique issues that an influenza pandemic would present.
