Background

The San Joaquin River NWR was established in 1987 primarily to protect and manage wintering habitat for Aleutian Canada geese, a federally listed endangered species. Since that time, the Refuge's focus has expanded to include protecting other sensitive species and restoring natural habitats and ecological processes. This Refuge and its management have been important factors in the recovery of the Aleutian Canada goose and its removal in 2001 from the Threatened and Endangered Species List. The Refuge is Located just west of Modesto, California.

Purpose and Need for Action

The purpose of the CCP is to provide a coherent, integrated set of management actions to help attain the Refuges' establishing purposes, and vision, goals, and objectives. The CCP identifies the Refuges' role in support of the mission of the National Wildlife Refuge System and describes the Service's management actions.

Alternatives

The Draft CCP/EA identifies and evaluates four alternatives for managing the Refuge for the next 15 years. The proposed action is to implement Alternative D as described in the EA. Alternative D best achieves the Refuges' purposes, vision, and goals; contributes to the Refuge System mission; addresses the significant issues and relevant mandates; and is consistent with principles of sound fish and wildlife management.

In Alternative A (No Action), existing management programs, which focus on Aleutian Canada goose, would continue unchanged. The Service would also continue the current visitor services program, which is limited to wildlife photography and observation from a
