

The Child-Specific Exposure Factors Handbook provides a summary of statistical data on various exposure factors used in assessing children's exposures. This Handbook serves as a resource for exposure assessors for calculating children's exposures. These factors include: drinking water consumption, soil ingestion and mouthing behavior, inhalation rates, dermal factors including skin surface area and soil adherence factors, consumption of retail and home-grown foods, breast milk intake, and activity pattern data. An interim final version of this handbook was published in 2002. The updated version provides analysis of exposure factors data using the age groups for children as recommended in the EPA document entitled, "Guidance on Selecting Age Groups for Monitoring and Assessing Childhood Exposures to Environmental Contaminants" (EPA/630/P-03/003F) (Available on line at <http://cfpub.epa.gov/ncea/cfm/recordisplay.cfm?deid=146583>).

The Guidance is available to support a recommended method for evaluating explosive safety hazards at military munitions response sites. It also presents approaches to support the evaluation of the effects of removal and remedial actions under the Comprehensive Environmental Restoration, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) regarding explosive hazards at munitions response sites. EPA is providing the public an opportunity to review and comment on the draft Guidance. The Guidance, comment form, and related materials can be found on EPA's Web site at http://www.epa.gov/fedfac/documents/hazard_assess_wrkgrp.htm.

DATES: Comments must be received by March 23, 2007.

ADDRESSES: Submit your comments to EPA using the comment form and instructions on our Web site at http://www.epa.gov/fedfac/documents/hazard_assess_wrkgrp.htm.

Background

In May 2004, EPA convened a technical working group (TWG) with personnel from the Department of Defense, the Department of the Interior, the Association of State and Territorial Solid Waste Management Officials, and the Tribal Association for Solid Waste and Emergency Response. The TWG was tasked with developing a recommended methodology to evaluate explosive safety hazards at munitions response sites. When finalized the methodology developed by the TWG and the work group organizations will be available to evaluate baseline explosive hazards at munitions response sites, and to evaluate the effects of removal or remedial actions under CERCLA, including changes to land use and land use activities. As part of this effort, the TWG developed additional information that can be found on the EPA Web site listed above.

EPA is requesting public comment on the draft Guidance. An electronic comment form is posted on the same link as the draft Guidance. To be considered, all comments must be provided on this comment form and submitted to the email address provided on the form.

After considering the comments, EPA, the Department of Defense, and the Department of the Interior will make available a final Munitions and Explosives of Concern Hazard Assessment document issued as joint guidance.

Under the Federal Reserve System heading, the entry for Proposed Agency Information Collection Activities; Comment Request, is revised to read as follows:

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

SUMMARY: Background

On June 15, 1984, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) delegated to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board) its approval authority under the Paperwork Reduction Act, as per 5 CFR 1320.16, to approve of and assign OMB control numbers to collection of information requests and requirements conducted or sponsored by the Board under conditions set forth in 5 CFR 1320 Appendix A.1. Copies of the Paperwork Reduction Act Submission, supporting statements and approved collection of information instruments are placed into OMB's public docket files. The Federal Reserve may not conduct or sponsor, and the respondent is not required to respond to, an information collection that has been extended, revised, or implemented on or after October 1, 1995, unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number.

Request for comment on information collection proposals

The following information collections, which are being handled under this delegated authority, have received initial Board approval and are hereby published for comment. At the end of the comment period, the proposed information collections, along with an analysis of comments and recommendations received, will be submitted to the Board for final approval under OMB delegated authority. Comments are invited on the following:

- Whether the proposed collections of information are necessary for the proper performance of the Federal Reserve's functions; including whether the information has practical utility;
