II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, Nasdaq included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. Nasdaq has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Nasdaq proposes to modify Rule 4611(d) which sets forth the requirements applicable to Nasdaq members that provide "Sponsored Access" by providing customers with electronic access to Nasdaq's execution system using the member's market participant identifier ("MPID"). Currently, Rule 4611(d) is substantially similar to Sponsored Access rules adopted by other national securities exchanges, including New York Stock Exchange Rule 123B and NYSE Arca Exchange Rule 7.29(b). Nasdaq is proposing to amend Rule 4611(d) to ensure that member firms that are assuming responsibility for their customers' trading activity have effective financial and regulatory oversight of the Sponsored Participant, and that Nasdaq has access to all information necessary to provide effective exchange oversight.

The proposal defines Sponsored Access as taking one of three general structures. First, "direct market access" occurs where the Sponsored Participant's orders pass-through the member's systems prior to reaching the exchange. Member firms routinely offer this form of access in the ordinary course of business presumably with effective regulatory and financial controls in place that are equivalent to those applied to the member firm's own orders. Second, "direct sponsored access" occurs where the Sponsored Participant is provided a dedicated line or port to Nasdaq, so that its orders do not first pass through the member's systems. As explained in more detail below, each port that permits entry of quotes and orders into Nasdaq is registered to and affiliated with a unique Nasdaq member firm but Nasdaq is not able to control or determine what external controls exist to ensure that quotes and orders entered into that port comply with applicable regulatory requirements. Third, "third party sponsored access" occurs where a service bureau, such as LAVA Trading, provides Sponsored Participants the technology to access the exchange and arranges for use of the member's MPID in connection with that arrangement under the auspices and via an arrangement with the Sponsoring Member. These definitions are non-exhaustive and designed to address the changing needs of the marketplace with flexibility while maintaining rigorous oversight.

The proposed rule re-affirms that member firms that offer any form of Sponsored Access assume responsibility for their Sponsored Participants' trading activity. The member firm must effectively assure compliance by each Sponsored Participant with appropriate financial controls and applicable regulatory requirements. As described more fully below, this would be accomplished through a combination of contractual commitments, financial and regulatory controls, and the monitoring of current activity reports that is designed to limit financial exposure and bolster regulatory compliance.

To facilitate effective oversight of Sponsored Access arrangements by Nasdaq and the member firms, Nasdaq is proposing to require members to obtain a contractual commitment from each Sponsored Access Participant that is provided direct access to Nasdaq through a dedicated port ("Direct Sponsored Access"). Access to Nasdaq's system is available through telecommunications ports that Nasdaq's offers exclusively to Nasdaq members. Each port is uniquely identified and is registered to one and only one Nasdaq member. Each message delivered to that port, delivered from that port into Nasdaq's systems, or delivered to the port by Nasdaq is tagged with the unique identifier for that port. As a result, every quotation, order, or execution that interacts with or is processed by Nasdaq's systems is attributable to a single Nasdaq member. That member is responsible for all trading activity occurring via that port, including activity of Sponsored Participants.

Where Sponsored Access is provided through a third party such as a service bureau ("Third Party Sponsored Access"), the member registers for a port but enables the service bureau to manage access to and activity of that port. In that case, the member firm will be required to obtain a contractual commitment from the service bureau that would include a commitment by the service bureau to obtain from each of its Sponsored Participant an appropriate contractual commitment for the benefit of the member firm. Through these contractual arrangements, Nasdaq will have the ability to obtain from its members any information necessary properly to monitor and address trading activity of Sponsored Participants. Pursuant to Rule 8210, members are required to comply with all requests for information, such as those stemming from investigations and enforcement actions, which may require the provision of information regarding individual Sponsored Participants.

To satisfy the proposed Contractual Provisions requirement, the Sponsored Participant or service bureau, as appropriate, will be required at minimum to commit to the following:

- All trading activity by the Sponsored Participant shall comply with all applicable federal securities laws and rules and Exchange rules, including but not limited to the Nasdaq Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaws, Rules and procedures with regard to the Nasdaq Market Center ("Regulatory Requirements").
- Sponsored Participant shall provide Sponsoring Member with access to its books and records promptly upon request, and otherwise cooperate with the Sponsoring Member in furtherance of Sponsoring Member's compliance with applicable Regulatory Requirements.
- Sponsored Participant shall maintain its trading activity within the credit, product or other financial limits specified by the Sponsoring Member.
- Sponsored Participant shall maintain all technology permitting sponsored access to Nasdaq in a physically secure manner and may not permit unauthorized individuals to use or obtain access to Nasdaq. Sponsored Participant shall familiarize its authorized individuals with the Regulatory Requirements and will provide appropriate training prior to use or access to Nasdaq.
- Sponsored Participant shall provide the Sponsoring Member complete and current corporate and financial information about the Sponsored Participant.

- Sponsored Participant shall agree that the Sponsoring Member or Nasdaq may immediately terminate the Sponsored Access if the Sponsored Participant or third party access provider fails to abide by its commitments.

Nasdaq is also proposing that member firms be required to assure that the Sponsored Access front-end or other functionality includes controls that systemically limit the member firm's financial exposure. At minimum, the Sponsored Access system must:

- Prevent each Sponsored Participant from entering orders that in aggregate exceed appropriate pre-set credit thresholds. Sponsoring Members may also set finely-tuned credit thresholds by sector, security or otherwise.

- Prevent Sponsored Participants from trading products that the Sponsored Participant or Sponsoring Member is restricted from trading.

- Prevent Sponsored Participants from submitting erroneous orders by providing for the rejection of orders that exceed certain price or size parameters, on an order-by-order basis or over a short period of time, or that indicate duplicative orders.

The member firm would be required to assure that the Sponsored Access front-end or other functionality includes controls that assure compliance with SEC and Nasdaq rules that can be systemically enforced. At minimum, the Sponsored Access system should assure compliance with: Rules relating to short selling; trading halts; proper uses of order types; proper use of Intermarket Sweep Orders; trading ahead of customer limit orders; prohibitions against manipulative trading practices, including wash sales and marking the close; restricted lists of securities for purposes of SEC Rule 10b-18; and applicable margin rules.

Finally, Nasdaq is proposing that member firms be required to assure that its compliance unit receives timely reports of all trading activity by its Sponsored Participants sufficient to permit the member firm to comply with applicable SEC and Nasdaq recordkeeping and reporting requirements, and to monitor for illegal activity such as market manipulation or insider trading. At minimum, the member firm's compliance unit should receive immediate post-trade execution reports of trading activity of its Sponsored Participants, including their identities; all required audit trail information no later than the end of the trading day; all information necessary to create and maintain the trading records required by Regulatory Requirements, no later than the end of the trading day.

2. Statutory Basis

Nasdaq believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 6 of the Act,⁴ in general and with Section 6(b)(5) of the Act,⁵ in particular, in that it is designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade and to protect investors and the public interest. The proposal is consistent with these obligations because it updates the standards for providing Sponsored Access, and clearly articulates the obligations in the Nasdaq's rules.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

Nasdaq does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act, as amended.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants or Others

Written comments were neither solicited nor received.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

Within 35 days of the date of publication of this notice in the Federal Register or within such longer period (i) as the Commission may designate up to 90 days of such date if it finds such longer period to be appropriate and publishes its reasons for so finding, or (ii) as to which the self-regulatory organization consents, the Commission will:

(A) By order approve such proposed rule change; or

(B) Institute proceedings to determine whether the proposed rule change should be disapproved.
