Removal of Procedures for Delegation of Administration of Grants and Cooperative Agreements

AGENCY: National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

Several decades ago, the Agency published the NASA Grant and Cooperative Handbook, codifying all agency policy, practices and procedures related to grants and cooperative agreements at 14 CFR parts 1260, 1273, and 1274. NASA was not required to publish them, but did so as a matter of agency practices. In retrospect, NASA's Grant and Cooperative Agreement Handbook contains internal Agency operating procedures that do not have a significant impact on the general public or grant and cooperative agreement recipients and, therefore, are also not regulatory in nature. Because internal operating procedures are not regulatory and should not be in the regulation, NASA is beginning an effort to remove agency internal policy, practices, and procedures from the regulation that do not have an impact on the public. As each non-regulatory part is considered for removal from the regulation, NASA will publish it in the Federal Register for comment. The public's comments will be considered in the final rule.

This rule covers NASA's delegation of administration procedures. These procedures provide internal guidance to NASA grant officers and project officers and will be one in a series of internal operating procedures which NASA is deregulating.

Consistent with regulatory guidance, including Executive Orders 12866 and 13563, agencies should only issue regulations that are required by law, are necessary to interpret the law, or are made necessary by compelling public need. NASA's internal operating procedures do not meet the standard for regulatory implementation. In accordance with Executive Order 13563, efforts to improve regulations and regulatory review, retrospective analysis of existing rules, agencies also are encouraged to perform retrospective analysis, reviewing existing regulation for outmoded, ineffective, insufficient, or excessively burdensome requirements, and to modify, streamline, expand, or repeal such regulation, as appropriate. Therefore, the Agency is hereby deleting, from the regulation, at 14 CFR parts 1260, 1273, and 1274, internal delegation of administration procedures that impose no burden and have no significant impact on grant and cooperative agreement recipients. The policy, practices and procedures by which NASA employees delegate the administration of grants and cooperative agreements are not subject to the formal rulemaking process, and public comment is not required. Nonetheless, to promote transparency of process, simultaneous with the removal from the regulation, NASA will issue non-regulatory grant and cooperative agreement delegation of authority procedures which will be publically posted on NASA's Web site at https://prod.nais.nasa.gov/pub/pub_library/grcover.htm.

II. Executive Orders 12866 and 13563

Executive Orders (E.O.s) 12866 and 13563 direct agencies to assess all costs and benefits of available regulatory alternatives and, if regulation is necessary, to select regulatory approaches that maximize net benefits (including potential economic, environmental, public health and safety effects, distributive impacts, and equity). E.O. 13563 emphasizes the importance of quantifying both costs and benefits, of reducing costs, of harmonizing rules, and of promoting flexibility. This is not a significant regulatory action and, therefore, was not subject to review under section 6(b) of E.O. 12866, Regulatory Planning and Review, dated September 30, 1993. This rule is not a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804.

III. Regulatory Flexibility Act

NASA certifies that this proposed rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq., because the proposed rule does not impose any additional requirements on small entities and, more importantly, the proposed rule serves to deregulate internal agency operating procedures which will eliminate unnecessary regulation.

IV. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paper Reduction Act (Pub. L. 104–13) is not applicable because the removal of the delegation of administration procedures does not require the submission of any information by recipients that requires the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.
