SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The Water Resources Research Act of 1984, as amended (42 U.S.C. 10301 et seq.), authorizes a research institute water resources or center in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, the Federated States of Micronesia, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and American Samoa. There are currently 54 such institutes, one in each state, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and Guam. The institute in Guam is a regional institute serving Guam, the Federated States of Micronesia, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. Each of the 54 institutes submits an annual application for an allotment grant, national competitive grants, and provides an annual report on its activities under the grant. The State Water Resources Research Institute Program issues an annual call for applications from the institutes to support plans to promote research, training, information dissemination, and other activities meeting the needs of the States and Nation. The State Water Resources Research Institute Program also issues a second annual call for competitive grants to focus on water problems and issues of a regional or interstate nature beyond those of concern only to a single State. The U.S. Geological Survey has been designated as the administrator of the provisions of the Act.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of the Interior (DOI) Office of Occupational Safety and Health manages the "Safety Management Information System—Interior, DOI-60" system of records. The purpose of this system is to document and monitor injuries or illnesses incurred by DOI employees, contractors, volunteers and visitors, in accordance with the Department of Labor Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulations and requirements. The Safety Management Information System (SMIS) was developed in response to the DOI Occupational Safety and Health Strategic Plan as a tool for DOI individuals who are injured or who file claims seeking benefits under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (FECA), and enables oversight of the DOI Worker's Compensation Program. The FECA establishes the system for processing and adjudicated claims that Federal employees and other covered individuals file with the Department of Labor's Office of Worker's Compensation Program (OWCP), seeking monetary, medical and similar benefits for injuries or deaths sustained while in the performance of duty. SMIS maintains information on accidents, injuries, and illnesses that occur on DOI property, and workers' compensation claims; provides summary data of injury, illness and property loss information to DOI bureaus and offices for analytical purposes to improve accident prevention policies, procedure, regulations, standards, and operations;
