

specific cases in which a banking organization's transactions were completed outside of policy requirements or a listing of specific deficiencies in technical modelling practices or data management requirements), but this would be noted within the MRIA or MRA in the examination or inspection report. Communications to supervised institutions about MRIAs and MRAs would specify a timeframe within which the corrective action is expected to be completed. The timeframe, at least initially, may require estimation because the institution may first need to complete preliminary planning to establish the timeframe for initiating and completing the corrective action. The timeframes for MRAs are likely to become more precise over time as planning evolves and circumstances make the completion of the MRAs more urgent.

Matters Referred to the Board of Directors

Where significant weaknesses in an institution's board governance structure and practices are identified, Federal Reserve examiners and supervisory staff would direct such matters to the institution's board for corrective action in the first instance.³⁰ Such weaknesses could include instances where the board does not provide effective oversight of senior management or fails to hold senior management accountable for fulfilling its responsibilities.

In addition, when senior management fails to take or ensure appropriate action is taken to correct material deficiencies or weaknesses, Federal Reserve examiners and supervisory staff would escalate such matters to an institution's board of directors or an executive-level committee of the board.³¹

BILLING CODE 6210-01-P

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

Proposed Agency Information Collection Activities; Comment Request

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

³⁰ For foreign banking organizations (FBOs) that do not have a U.S. domiciled board of directors, Federal Reserve examiners and supervisory staff would generally direct the supervisory finding to the senior U.S. manager responsible for the FBO's U.S. operations. However, examiners have the discretion to direct to the FBO's global board of directors those supervisory findings that concern weaknesses in the FBO's governance structure over its U.S. operations or to address excessive risks in its U.S. business strategies that have or may have negative ramifications to safety and soundness.

³¹ Escalation of a matter to the board of directors or an executive-level committee of the board is not a precondition to the Federal Reserve System's initiation of an enforcement action against the institution or its directors for failure to address an MRIA or MRA.

Proposal To Approve Under OMB Delegated Authority the Implementation of the Following Report

Report title: Survey of Household Economics and Decisionmaking.
Agency form number: FR 3077.

OMB control number: 7100–NEW.
Frequency: Quantitative Survey, annually; Qualitative Survey, occasionally.

Respondents: Consumers.

Estimated number of respondents: Quantitative Survey, 17,000 respondents; Qualitative Survey, 30 respondents.

Estimated average hours per response: Quantitative Survey, 0.47 hours; Qualitative Survey, 2 hours.

Estimated annual burden hours: Quantitative Survey, 7,990 hours; Qualitative Survey, 180 hours.

General description of report: The information collected could be used for the Board's Report on the Economic Well-Being of U.S. Households, for Board studies or working papers, professional journals, the Federal Reserve Bulletin, testimony and reports to the Congress, or other vehicles. Such event-driven consumer data collections could also be used to inform Board policy, regulatory, supervisory and operational decisions.

The Board anticipates that the SHED would include such topics as individuals' overall financial well-being, employment experiences, income and savings behaviors, economic preparedness, access to banking and credit, housing and living arrangement decisions, education and human capital, student loans, and retirement planning. The overall content of the SHED instrument would depend on changing economic, regulatory, or legislative developments as well as changes in the financial services industry.

Legal authorization and confidentiality: The Board's Legal Division has determined that Section 2A of the Federal Reserve Act (FRA) requires that the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Open Market Committee maintain long run growth of the monetary and credit aggregates commensurate with the economy's long run potential to increase production, so as to promote effectively the goals of maximum employment, stable prices, and moderate long-term interest rates (12 U.S.C. 225a). Under section 12A of the FRA, the Federal Open Market Committee is required to implement regulations relating to the open market operations conducted by Federal Reserve Banks with a view to accommodating commerce and business and with regard to their bearing upon the general credit situation of the country (12 U.S.C. 263). Because the Board and the Federal Open Market Committee use the information obtained on the FR 3077 to fulfill these obligations, these statutory provisions provide the legal authorization for the collection of information on the FR 3077. The FR 3077 is a voluntary survey.

The ability of the Board to maintain the confidentiality of information provided by respondents to the FR 3077 will have to be determined on a case-by-case basis depending on the type of information provided for a particular survey. To the extent that a respondent's answers reveal information "the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy," such information would likely be exempt from disclosure under exemption 6 of the Freedom of Information Act, (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6)).

Consultation outside the agency: The Board will consult with outside subject matter experts for specific questions, as needed.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, August 4, 2017.

Margaret McCloskey Shanks,
Deputy Secretary of the Board.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Occupational Research Agenda (NORA) is a partnership program created to stimulate innovative research and improved workplace practices. The national agenda is developed and implemented through the NORA sector and cross-sector councils. Each council develops and maintains an agenda for its sector or cross-sector. The National Occupational Research Agenda for Cancer, Reproductive, Cardiovascular and other Chronic Disease Prevention (CRC) is intended to identify the research, information, and actions most urgently needed to prevent occupational cancer, adverse reproductive outcomes and cardiovascular disease. The National Occupational Research Agenda for CRC provides a vehicle for industry stakeholders to describe the most relevant issues, gaps, and safety and health needs for the sector. It is meant to be broader than any one agency or organization. It is a strategic plan for the entire country and all of its research and development entities, whether government, higher education, or industry.

This is the first CRC Agenda, developed for the third decade of NORA (2016–2026). The agenda was developed considering new information about injuries and illnesses, the state of the science, and the probability that new information and approaches will make a difference.
